Slight Decline Sets In . . .

Farm Prices Increase 20%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices farmers get for raw products soared a record 20 per cent in August and averaged 62 per cent more than a year earlier, the Agriculture Department said Thursday.

The report was for the month ended Aug. 15.

The report deals with prices received by farmers for their products but makes no correlation to wholesale or retail prices, although at least part of any increase in prices received by farmers ultimately is passed on to consumers.

Crop Reporting Board officials said high prices for cattle, hogs, wheat, soybeans, eggs, corn and cotton contributed most to the increase.

Lower prices were reported for potatoes, apples and tomatoes but these only slightly offset the huge one-month jump.

The record 20 per cent gain resumed dramatically an upward spiral interrupted in July when the index held steady, partly attributed then to the administration's lid on food prices at retail and wholesale prices.

Those restraints, except for beef, were lifted on July 18 or just three days after the beginning of the month covered in the August farm price report. Beef controls will be removed Sept. 12.

Cattle averaged $51.70 per 100 pounds, eclipsing the previous record of $44.20 set in July. A year ago cattle were $33.60 per 100 pounds.

Scattered Stations Plan To Shut Down

By United Press International
Scattered gas stations across the country planned to shut down over the Labor Day weekend in protest against what they claim is unfair treatment under Phase IV price guidelines.

Most stations, however, said they did not want to alienate customers and would stay open to take advantage of the holiday bonanza.

The fuse went out of what was planned to be a massive shutdown after the gasoline dealers won a one-week reprieve Thursday from Phase IV price controls on gasoline and diesel fuel.

Faced with various court challenges by dealers' associations, the Cost of Living

Hogs were $56.50 per 100 pounds, up from the previous high of $41 in July and $28 in August last year.

Wheat, at a record $4.45 per bushel, exceeded by nearly $2 the July average. In August last year wheat was $1.51.

Corn rose to $2.68 per bushel, the highest in this century, from $2.03 in July and $1.15 a year ago.

Soybeans were $8.99 per bushel in August, recovering from $6.69 in July but still short of the $10 record set in June. In August 1972 they were $3.36 per bushel.

The report did not reflect substantial declines for some important commodities since Aug. 15, the deadline used to compute the farm price index.

Prices of choice grade steers sold for slaughter at major midwestern markets on Aug. 15, for example, averaged a top of $57 per 100 pounds. Although gyrating since then, steer prices generally have moved down and by Wednesday ran about $50 per 100 pounds.

Hogs also have slipped sharply since mid-August, from record midwestern market peaks of more than $62 per 100 pounds to about $52 or slightly lower by Wednesday, according to USDA analysts.

Some declines in grain prices also have occurred since Aug. 15. The slippages, however, will not show up in USDA's farm price index until another report is issued Sept. 28.

Council postponed the controls — scheduled to go into effect Saturday — for the third time. Nevertheless, in at least three states, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Connecticut, gas stations planned to go ahead with the protest.

"While there should be no widespread shutdowns, some dealer associations were angered over confusion created by the council's yo-yo approach — imposing, then staying controls — and many of their members will close," the American Automobile Association said.

"Most will stay open primarily because they cannot afford to shut down over the lucrative Labor Day weekend," a spokesman said.

Heat Wilts Fair's Gala Opening

By DICK HOLMAN
Star Staff Writer
In the absence of the expected rains Thursday, soaring temperatures caused a proliferation of ice cream-licking tongues at opening day of the 104th Nebraska State Fair.

The extravaganza began officially at 4 p.m. for the traditional preview night. This year's extended 10-day fair runs through Sept. 9.

At the 17th St. gate, a ticket seller said the numbers coming in were "real good" and guessed a first evening attendance of between 3,000 to 5,000.

But public admissions were going a little slowly at first. One ticket seller attributed the slack run to the higher costs of food at the fair.

Maybe After Dinner
"I've seen some families coming in with their lunches and Thermoses," he said, adding he expected admissions to increase after the dinner hour.

The John Kowalski family arrived at the fair early Thursday evening from Council Bluffs, Iowa.

"Oh, we come every year," said Mrs. Kowalski, originally from Lincoln.

Little Molly Kowalski, 2, was eyes agog at the fair's activity. "She came last year," Mrs. Kowalski explained, but noted to Molly's delight, "this year she can ride on things."

Five-year-old Mia shyly agreed and her cousin Lindy Schwarzenbach, 14, put in her vote for the midway rides.

Some Catch Nap
Meanwhile, on the Murphy Brothers midway, some barkers were loudly hawking offers to only a handful of strollers along the mile-long exposition. But the lack of comers caused boredom to set in, as other barkers slept head on hands on their stands in the early evening sun.

While virtually all the midway was ready for the public at the 4 p.m. opening, the skeleton of the roller coaster was still being connected under the chink of giant sledge hammers.

While carnival workers were asleep or abiding, an engineering team of Max Burroughs, Alfons Hadersky, Richard Noel and Jim Phillips were inspecting the safety of the rides. The inspection for hazards will continue throughout the fair.

Other inspectors from the State Department of Agriculture have been checking the quality of food at concession stands for the past three days, as they will for the 10-day run.

Bridge Completed
At the 14th St. gate, construction workers met their noon Thursday deadline for completing the new bridge across Salt Creek into the Fairgrounds, ready to accommodate the half-million fair visitors Manager Henry Brandt expects this year.

Elsewhere on the fairgrounds, exhibits went up as fast as kites on a windy day. Scattered all over the fair, the exhibits are something like the Smithsonian Institution: deliriously many and much and impossible to see in one day.

In the Youth Complex, the low of gentle dairy cattle was the contented reaction to kids washing down, clipping and grooming their animals.

Highlights at the State Fair Friday include motorcycle races at 2 p.m. in the grandstand; the Blood Sweat & Tears grandstand show at 7:45 p.m.; open class judging of swine, bees and honey, draft horses and needlework; and 4-H judging of livestock, ag demonstrations and home economics general exhibits.

Rogers A Possible GOP Candidate

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer
Nebraska Wesleyan University President Vance Rogers Thursday confirmed that he has been approached about the possibility of seeking the 1974 Republican gubernatorial nomination.

"There has been some communication with people known to be identified with the Republican Party," Rogers acknowledged.

"But I have not considered the matter at all in depth. At this stage, it's mainly conversation," Rogers, 56, Wesleyan's president for the past 16 years, once considered seeking a seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

That was in 1965 and after what Rogers described as "serious consideration in depth," he decided not to seek the First District Republican nomination.

If current gubernatorial conversation becomes serious, he said, he would have to give the matter "similar consideration in depth."

There is growing speculation in GOP ranks that none of the most prominently named prospective Republican gubernatorial candidates will ultimately enter the 1974 race for governor.

With that thought in mind, efforts have begun to sprout encouraging other prospective candidates.

An informal group is supporting former Republican State Chairman Milan Bish of Grand Island as a possible candidate. It took the pulse of party workers at a GOP state central committee meeting in Norfolk last weekend.

The most prominently mentioned prospective candidates have been National Committee Chairman Richard Herman of Omaha, State Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings and Lt. Gov. Frank Marsh of Lincoln.

Gov. J. James Exon is expected to seek renomination from Nebraska Democrats for a second term.

Rogers said his initial reaction to gubernatorial conversation is that "I have very important responsibilities at Nebraska Wesleyan."

In 1965, when he was pondering a possible congressional race, Rogers said, he reviewed factors which he considered important in reaching a decision.

"In order to run, you need people who support you and who are willing to work," he noted. "You must have reason to believe that you have real support."

"You must consider your abilities, your resources, your talents, your responsibilities."

Those are the kind of serious considerations which he has not yet directed at a gubernatorial race, Rogers said. "So far, it's only conversation," he suggested.

Rogers was minister at Trinity Methodist Church in Lincoln prior to being named Wesleyan's 13th president in 1957. He was formally inaugurated in 1958.

Jury Views Reading Matter Available Here

The Lancaster County Court jury of three women and three men is expected to begin deliberations Friday following closing arguments in the trial of John Serafine, charged with four counts of selling or possessing obscene items.

Jurors spent a considerable amount of time Thursday looking at various books and magazines available in Lincoln through the public libraries or at retail book stores.

Appearing on a subpoena by the defense, Lincoln City Libraries Director Charles Dalrymple brought with him at the direction of defense counsel 10 books and magazines including "Edsel," "The Story of O," "Numbers," and "Fanny Hill," which are available to the general public at the library.

In selecting materials for the library, Dalrymple testified that the library staff attempts to identify all interests and buy in accordance with those interests.

He said, for example, that the criteria for the purchase of 14 copies of "Edsel" by former University of Nebraska professor Karl Shapiro, included national standards, the fact that he was a former Lincolnite, a Pulitzer Prize winner, and that Shapiro's work was known and recognized.

When shown copies in evidence of the books alleged to be obscene by the prosecution, Dalrymple responded on questioning by the state that to his knowledge the library had no book similar to "Four Play" but that there are technical books and magazine articles related to the subject in the library.

Dalrymple further testified on cross-examination by the prosecution that the film library contained no films dealing with the subject matter of sex per se but did have sex-related films.

When Chief Deputy County Attorney Ron Lahners asked Dalrymple if those individuals who check out "dirty books" tend to be the ones who check out "all dirty books," Dalrymple responded:

"We don't use that terminology."

Mary Ann Bayley, manager of the Miller & Payne book stores, also appearing on subpoena by the defense and requested to bring a copy of "The Joy of Sex," testified that Miller & Payne attempts to "keep a complete book store."

She said that "The Joy of Sex," which is on

President Consults Lawyers

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon directed his lawyers Thursday to appeal a federal judge's order to produce the secret Watergate tape recordings.

The President's decision on his next step in the historic legal battle came 24 hours after chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica ordered Nixon to produce for his private inspection the tapes demanded by special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Nixon announced Wednesday he would refuse to obey the order. After summoning his top White House lawyers to California, he disclosed Thursday he would seek review by the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington.

"Appropriate papers for obtaining review are being prepared" and will be filed before a stay granted by Sirica expires next Thursday, the White House statement said.

Presidential spokesmen refused to say whether Nixon, in his meetings with special White House counsel J. Fred Buzhardt and special consultant Charles Allen Wright, had discussed the possibility of not appealing Sirica's ruling.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren also turned aside questions on what legal approach the appeal will take. But the White House lawyers are certain to repeat Nixon's claim that executive privilege allows him to keep confidential material sought in a criminal investigation.

Whatever the appeals court decides, it is virtually certain the case will be carried to the Supreme Court. This could take months, meaning a final ruling would not come until some time in the fall.

The dispute began last month, when a former White House aide told the Senate Watergate committee that Nixon routinely recorded conversations in his Oval Office and elsewhere.

Acting on behalf of the Watergate grand jury, prosecutor Cox subpoenaed tapes of eight meetings and one telephone call between Nixon and his advisers at the time, John W. Dean III, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

The White House also has rejected a subpoena delivered by the Senate committee, prompting the panel to file a separate suit to force disclosure. Both Cox and the committee contend the tapes are vital to resolve contradictions in the testimony of White House aides allegedly involved in the Watergate cover-up.

Indications were that White House lawyers gave some consideration to seeking a further stay of Sirica's ruling in hopes of consolidating the suit with the one brought by the Senate panel. But the President decided instead to seek the immediate review of Sirica's ruling.

In legal arguments thus far, Nixon's lawyers have contended that a president's confidential records are privileged from disclosure, and that the president is the only one who can decide whether the information should be released.

On this key point, Sirica ruled otherwise, holding that the court has the ultimate authority to decide whether such material is protected by executive privilege.

Sirica said he would examine the tape recordings in private and decide whether all or parts of them should be turned over to the grand jury.

This judgment, he said, was an attempt "to walk the middle ground," stopping short of ordering Nixon to turn all the tapes over for a full grand jury inspection.

Nixon's decision to appeal puts the constitutional issue in the hands of the nine judges of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. Most cases involving major government officials and agencies go through the court because of its location in Washington.

The court's normal procedure is to assign cases at random to panels composed of three of the nine judges. On occasion, however, the full court hears a case.

When showed a copy of "Four Play," Mrs. Bayley testified on cross-examination that Miller & Payne sold "no book similar to that in the store."

Called by the defense to identify an article on homosexuality which appeared in the Aug. 11 issue of The Lincoln Star, Lincoln Star reporter Gerry Switzer testified that in her opinion such an article probably would not have been published 15 years ago when she first started working for the newspaper.

On questioning by defense counsel Herbert Friedman, Mrs. Switzer said that it was her opinion from her observations that the moral attitudes of the community had changed in the last 15 years.

On cross-examination, Lahners asked the reporter, who regularly covers the courts, that if "in your position wouldn't you see more of the seamy side of life than other people?"

To this, Mrs. Switzer responded, "That is probably a fair statement — yes."

News Summary

(c) New York Times News Service

Ottawa — The Canadian Parliament convened in Ottawa to legislate an end to a nationwide railroad strike which has halted virtually every train in Canada, with increasingly crippling economic repercussions, from coast to coast. Both government and opposition leaders attempted to make maximum political capital out of the special session, picketed by angry railroad workers who fear an unfair, forced settlement. Some demonstrators broke a dozen parliament building windows, but the disorder was quickly contained. (More on Page 2.)

Israel Reprimanded

Rome — Following a heated debate, the International Civil Aviation Organization voted to condemn Israel for intercepting a Lebanese airliner on Aug. 10. The vote at the special session in Rome was 87 to 1. The United States joined the majority in support of a resolution submitted by 31 Arab and African nations blaming Israel for violating Lebanese sovereignty and calling on Israel to desist from committing such atrocities.

Wiretapping Explanation Hit

Washington — The wiretapping of government officials, defended by President Nixon as necessary to prevent disclosures to the press of his secret foreign policy initiatives, was directed at two administration officials whose jobs did not bring them in contact with such classified national security information, according to sources familiar with the operation. The sources said that among the 13 government officials whose telephones were tapped between 1969 and 1971 were James W.

McClane, then staff member of the White House Domestic Council and now deputy director of the Cost of Living Council, and John P. Sears, a former law partner of Nixon and then deputy White House counsel.

CIA Mission Reported

Washington — Southern Air Transport, the charter airline owned by and largely operated for the Central Intelligence Agency, apparently performed paramilitary missions in the Congo and Caribbean along with its Indochina work, according to aviation officials in Miami.

Steel Firms Indicted

Washington — Three of the nation's largest steel corporations were indicted on charges of price fixing and market sharing in the $40 million market for steel reinforcing bars. Named in two separate grand jury indictments filed in two federal district courts in Texas were the United States Steel Corp., the Bethlehem Steel Corp., the Armco Steel Corp., and 14 smaller companies.

Nixon Will Appeal Ruling

Laguna Beach, Calif. — President Nixon announced he would appeal a court ruling requiring him to yield secret tape recordings of conversations with his staff about the Watergate case. The White House issued a statement saying the President had met with his counsel and that it had been "decided that counsel will seek review in the court of appeals for the District of Columbia" of the order by Chief Judge John J. Sirica. (More on Page 1.)

Pravda Angrily Attacks Peking

MOSCOW (AP) — A day after the conclusion of a Chinese Communist party congress that confirmed a policy hostile to the Soviet Union, Pravda renewed a heavy editorial attack on Peking, accusing its regime of spoiling Kremlin plans for Asia.

The tempo of these attacks has been rising steadily in recent times, some of them obviously coming from the highest levels of the Soviet leadership.

The Chinese party congress made public on Wednesday a communique warning that China should be prepared to resist "wars of aggression . . . and particularly against surprise attacks by social imperialism." The term is used to refer to the Soviet regime.

An angry Pravda editorial printed Thursday denounced the Chinese for allegedly making common cause with "imperialism" in Indochina and the Middle East and for opposing the Kremlin's peaceful coexistence campaign because it would interfere with China's plans to dominate Asia.

The Kremlin has made it plain that it believes China wants to lead the huge bloc of Third World developing nations and have their support in opposing the aims of both superpowers, the Soviet Union and the United States. The Peking contention is that Moscow is willing to sacrifice the aims of world revolution for its own interests in a deal with the Americans.

"Peking propagandists are constantly appealing to small and medium states to unite as a counterbalance to the 'superpowers' — in fact against the Soviet Union," Pravda said.

Chou's Star On Rise

Tokyo (AP) — The 10th National Congress of China's Communist party has established the foundation for collective leadership, but Premier Chou En-lai's political star is on the rise, official reports from Peking indicated Thursday.

The congress, held in Peking Aug. 24-28, elected a 195-member central committee. At its first plenary meeting Thursday, the committee chose Mao Tse-tung as chairman. He will be assisted by five vice chairmen.

Chou, the suave, hard-working

The paper referred to China's disdain for the Soviet proposal of an "Asian collective security system" as a move to isolate them and said Peking "continues maneuvers aimed against normalization of the situation and a just solution of present-day problems on the Indian sub-continent and in Southeast Asia."

"Here they demonstrate their readiness to act in partnership with the imperialist powers," it said.

"Peking is trying to aggravate the hotbed of the Middle East. It takes up a provocative position aimed at weakening the friendly ties between the Arab peoples and the Soviet Union," Pravda said.

Rail Bill Termed 'Vicious, Unjust'

Ottawa (UPI) — The federal government introduced an emergency bill ordering an end to the nationwide rail strike Thursday. But union officials called it "vicious and unjust" and said they would not obey the back to work order if it passes, as expected.

The bill orders the 56,000-member Associated Non-operating Railway Unions to end their week-long strike and prohibits threatened walkouts by 22,000 shopcraft workers and 14,000 workers in the running trades.

The head of the union negotiating committee, Richard C. Smith, said the government's minimum wage increase of 30 cents an hour in the bill was "niggardly" and was "completely unacceptable."

Sales Again Strong For Retail Chains

New York (AP) — The nation's major retail chains, which have been posting sharp gains all year, turned in another strong sales showing this month, according to reports issued by the companies. Some of the companies including Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck, posted record sales for the month.

"This is a vicious and unjust piece of legislation," said Smith, who announced that the general conference committee, made up of all elected union representatives, has voted unanimously to reject the bill.

Smith said it was hoped the legislation would be improved.

Earlier Thursday, about 1,500 railway employees chanted "we won't go back" outside the House of Commons just before Labor Minister John Munro introduced the legislation designed to end the rail shutdown.

Munro had said he was confident the railway employees would go back when the bill was passed, despite a violent protest on Parliament Hill Thursday and the fact it took more than a week to resume full service when Parliament cut short the last rail strike in 1966.

Between 200 and 300 rail workers stormed into the entrance area of the main Parliament building shortly before it began its special session. They left after 45 minutes of window breaking, shouting, scuffling with police and security guards and fighting among themselves.

Heat Forces Cutback Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Sweltering heat forced a five per cent voltage cutback in New York State for the third straight day as the East Coast and parts of the Midwest remained blanketed by hot, humid air.

Despite near-record demands for power throughout the area, utility systems in other states were able to cope although there were scattered outages in Washington, D.C. The National Weather Service said there would be no over-all relief until at least next Tuesday.

Shale Oil Available, But Environment Is At Stake

Washington (UPI) — A government report said Thursday the nation's fuel supply could be vastly increased by extracting oil from shale — but at the expense of destruction of vegetation, wildlife and lowering of water supplies.

The Interior Department's six-volume report dealt with the pros and cons of reducing the country's energy shortage by using shale deposits in western states as an oil source.

Estimates of oil in shale rock range up to trillions of barrels and perhaps billions of barrels could be obtained easily with current technology.

But the 3,200-page report said there were drawbacks, such as: —Disruption of land in production zones which would destroy vegetation and wildlife and scar scenic areas. Some species of animals would be wiped out and the mule deer population reduced by 10%.

—Reduce underground water supplies and lower the quality of surface water.

—Urbanize rural areas with construction of roads through undisturbed regions, raising the population in the producing areas by 114,000.

Interior Deputy Undersecretary Jared Carter said, however, environmental effects "don't look unbearable in light of the future potential for contributing to the overall energy picture . . . I haven't heard the environmental groups say it's a sellout . . ."

When shale is broken up and heated to more than 900 degrees Fahrenheit, organic material in the shale emerges as oil, a synthetic crude oil whose properties are so much like petroleum that it can be refined into most petroleum products.

Chairman H. I. Koolsbergen of the Oil Shale Corp. said in Los Angeles the report was "one of the actions we have been waiting for . . . the technology is in hand, the costs are competitive and we are confident that oil shale can be developed with a minimum of alteration to the environment."

The richest shale deposits are in Utah, Wyoming and Colorado.

AFL-CIO Plans Reorganization

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO plans a major reorganization that would centralize control over the organizing, politicking and lobbying campaigns of local affiliates. Labor sources say an important post has been offered to William J. Usery Jr., director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Tremors Jolt Colombia; Mudslides Fatal To 40

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Two violent earthquakes jolted major portions of Colombia on Thursday, damaging churches, homes and office buildings. Forty persons were killed in mudslides unrelated to the quake, officials said.

There were no immediate reports of casualties resulting from the quakes which centered in eastern Colombia, near the border with Venezuela.

Mudslides took a heavy toll in a crowded Caracas slum in the same area earlier Thursday. The unrelated incidents came two days after the worst earthquake in Mexican history, whose final death toll may reach 1,000.

Frightened residents of this capital city of more than two million people ran into the streets as the tremors upset furniture and shook pictures from walls.

The Andes Geophysical Institute estimated their strength at the epicenter at 6.5 on the Mercalli international scale of 12. In Bogota, the quakes registered 4.5.

Damage to buildings was reported in the states of Santander, North Santander and Boyaca. Police said that in North Santander, 30 houses were destroyed and 300 others damaged in rural villages near the Venezuelan border.

In the eastern Colombian city of Bucaramanga, officials said the quake knocked out a power station.

In Caracas, fresh mudslides prevented rescue squads from reaching some areas buried before dawn Thursday.

The crews used heavy machinery to probe tons of mud and debris for bodies of the estimated 40 victims.

By Thursday, they had found a 9-year-old girl who was only slightly injured after being buried for several hours. Thirteen bodies were also unearthed.

Officials said they feared many victims might never be found under the tons of earth and rock.

The hillside covered with tin shacks had been softened by heavy rains Wednesday night. Rescue workers estimated that about 50 homes inhabited by poor migrant workers from Venezuela's interior states were swept away or buried.

Landslides are common in the Caracas hills during the August to October rainy season.

Paper Industry Peace Hopes Raised In Canada

Toronto (UPI) — Reports from contract talks between Abitibi Paper and its 6,000-member Ontario employees union raised hopes Thursday for an early pattern-setting agreement that could restore peace to eastern Canada's strike-torn paper industry.

Jim Buchanan, area director of the United Paper Workers International Union (UPIU), said union negotiators were preparing a reply to what he called a "favorable offer conducive to continued bargaining" made by the Abitibi Pulp and Paper Co. late Wednesday.

"It looks like we're moving," Buchanan said. "I just hope we keep moving. . . All I can say is that I'm a lot happier today than I was at one point yesterday."

The Abitibi-UPIU bargaining was being closely watched by the other major paper companies. Industry spokesmen have expressed hope that an Abitibi-UPIU settlement will set a pattern for the rest of the industry to follow.

Student Held In Rape Case

A 17-year-old Lincoln High School student was jailed Thursday afternoon in connection with the rape of a 15-year-old girl, according to police Capt. Lowell Sellmeyer.

Sellmeyer said the youth dragged the girl from the school to his car, drove to the country southwest of town and raped her.

Police said the youth was arrested when he returned the girl to school.

Guest Professor

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (AP) — Bandleader Lawrence Welk will be a visiting professor at the University of North Dakota Sept. 24.

Welk, a North Dakota native, will teach a course for one day on a subject well known to him. The course is Lawrence Welk and Popular Music.

Growers Vote To Withhold 10% Of Coffee

London (AP) — The world's major coffee producers voted Thursday to withhold 10 per cent of their 1973-74 exports to maintain current high prices.

Among them, the 33 countries produce 90 per cent of the world's exportable coffee.

Jorge Ramirez of Colombia, chairman of the 41-member producer group of the International Coffee Organization, said the move would mean 5.5 million bags of coffee of all types would not be stockpiled in bonded warehouses this year.

This measure will mean the prices of expensive coffees will increase marginally, but cheaper brands were expected to rise sharply by a possible several cents a pound.

Food Convoyed To Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Government troops, spearheaded by an armored column, reopened one of Phnom Penh's two supply highways Thursday and the first food convoy in six days sped into the city.

The Cambodian forces cleared insurgent bunkers from a two-mile stretch of Highway 5 which connects the capital with the rice-rich Battambang Province to the northwest.

Communist-led insurgents had cut the highway last Saturday at a point 35 miles from the city. This blocked food shipments and caused shortages of some meats and vegetables, forcing food prices to soar.

Trucks passing the reopened highway tossed cigarettes and other gifts to the soldiers who battled for six days to clear the road.

Traces of blood were found in the bunkers abandoned by the Khmer Rouge insurgents, indicating they had carried away dead and wounded.

About 500 soldiers were stationed along the highway at the critical point where it had been cut. Several outposts isolated in the fighting were linked up again with the government forces.

Fighting continued through Thursday afternoon on Highway 4. Phnom Penh's second supply route leading southwest to the deepwater seaport of Kompong Som. This road was cut on Sunday.

Lincoln General Trustees Endorse Surgical Center

The Lincoln General Hospital Board of Trustees gave its approval Thursday night for the Community Advisory Council to work toward the establishment of an out-patient surgical center to be located in the physicians building north of Lincoln General Hospital.

The proposed center would eliminate the use of major surgical suites and acute care beds for patients who require a non-hospitalizing type of surgery.

Citing a 52% increase in major surgery in July 1973 over July of 1972, Lincoln General Administrator Robert Brungard said the surgical center would lighten the load now placed on the present surgical suites.

Brungard said the average stay in surgical centers of the type proposed is three and one-half hours.

The construction needed for the center would be quite simple, Brungard said, adding that the center would be more convenient for patients and doctors alike.

State's 'Impact Aid' $494,000

Washington (UPI) — The U.S. Office of Education said Thursday Nebraska's share of the so-called "impact aid" funds would be $494,000.

More than $66 million of the funds will be released to some 5,000 local school districts next week in 54 states and jurisdictions.

Fighting also was reported near Kompong Tram, 18 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

Field reports said government troops had cleared provincial Highway 26 which intersects Highway 4 from south to north. But they were reported still engaged in a heavy exchange of small-arms fire outside a sugar refinery.

Maj. Puth Phon, 40, commander of the government armored personnel carriers in the battle, was killed by small-arms fire. Field reports said a bullet from an insurgents AK47 rifle hit him in the chest while he was seated in an armored vehicle leading the attack.

Arrests In Lahore
Rawalpindi, Pakistan (UPI) — Forty opposition leaders and followers were arrested in Lahore, an opposition party spokesman said.

In other business related to the Community Advisory Council, the board approved Bruce Hamilton, John Olson and Mike Higgins as new members of the council.

It was also announced that Dr. James Slyner has been elected chairman of the council and Richard Bradley was named vice chairman.

Turning to financial matters, the board voted to increase Brungard's salary from $21,008 a year to $23,508.

Herb Hopkins, member of the review committee, said that Brungard had done an "outstanding job" as administrator for Lincoln General Hospital and noted that he had not received a pay increase in two years.

In addition to Brungard's salary from Lincoln General, he receives $18,992 a year from the Lincoln Hospital Association.

The board said a review would be made of the portion of time Brungard spends on LHA business and his salary would be changed to reflect that percentage.

The next meeting of the board of trustees is scheduled for Sept. 25.

U.S. Agrees To Clean Up Waters Entering Mexico

San Clemente, Calif. (UPI) — In a move to eliminate a problem that has plagued relations between the two neighbors for more than a decade, the United States formally agreed Thursday to a $115 million program to clean up the waters of the Colorado River flowing into Mexico.

Reduction of the river's salt content will allow the Mexican government to put approximately 75,000 acres of once-used agricultural lands in the Mexicali Valley of Baja California back into farm production.

The Mexicans claim they have suffered more than $150 million in damages since 1961 when completion of new irrigation projects in the United States made the Colorado too salty for irrigation purposes south of the border.

The agreement, concluded in negotiations over the last year by former Atty. Gen. Herbert G. Brownell, appointed special ambassador for the task, and Mexican Foreign Secretary Emilio O. Rabasa, was signed Thursday in Mexico City.

The pact calls for:

—Construction of the world's largest desalting plant in Arizona at a cost of $67 million.

—Lining with tile a 50-mile segment of the Coachella Canal in California at a cost of $21 million to reclaim some polluted water.

—Building a bypass drainage canal of approximately 75 miles at U.S. expense in Mexico from the Arizona-Sonora international boundary to the Gulf of California to carry off brine now pumped back into the Colorado and causing pollution.

The cost is figured at $15 million.

—The United States to support Mexican efforts to obtain international financing for improvement of irrigation systems in the Mexicali Valley.

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

U. S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica has assured himself a prominent place in the history of the Republic. If any one individual has been a dominant force in the Watergate affair, it is Judge Sirica and his relentless pursuit of justice.

He has made history with his ruling that the disputed White House tapes of conversations about Watergate must be turned over to the court for private examination. Further, he has established the rule that the right of privilege is not an absolute one for any branch of government.

He has not said that the Watergate tapes must be produced for the grand jury but would make that decision based upon a review of those tapes. Of course, the case is far from over and shows promise of being in the courts for a long time.

The Sirica ruling will be appealed. If that is lost by the White House, any order issued by Sirica would then be appealed. It is only after all these actions had been taken and determined that the case might come to an end.

We say "might" because there is no way of knowing what the final outcome of things could be. Even when all presently pending legal issues have been determined, the White House could introduce a whole new set of questions by refusing to honor any court order.

President Nixon has said he will honor any "definitive" order of the court but no one knows exactly what this means and there is no feeling at all that Nixon could not, if he so pleased, refuse to follow the directions of the court.

That eventually raises at least as fascinating a set of legal matters as raised in this initial action. Both Sirica and Nixon are arguing that they are acting for the sake of the preservation of our democracy.

Nixon sees his refusal to release the tapes as a preservation of the constitutional powers of the presidency. Without this power, he argues, the office of president would be weakened to the point of ineffectiveness.

Only by maintaining his prerogative of privilege in the matter of the tapes, he says, can the presidency maintain its status of equality with the other branches of government and retain the time-honored system of checks and balances that has served us so well in the past.

But Sirica looks at it differently. If the White House position is sustained, he seems to say, the office of presidency would be elevated to a point of supremacy.

If the White House is beyond the law and beyond the power of the courts, the judge reasons, we would have an autocracy. Such is the nature of the gigantic court battle now taking place.

In practical terms, there is still a lot of thinking that Nixon would have been better to avoid this confrontation. Such an attitude is further encouraged by one of the references cited in the current case.

The reference is to a court order in 1807, for President Thomas Jefferson to turn over a letter bearing on the treason trial of former Vice President Aaron Burr. While Jefferson disputed the court's power, he did turn over the letter.

It is interesting that that action did not, in the future, weaken the presidency as Nixon now claims a similar action would do. It is difficult to subscribe to Nixon's theory from a practical point of view, whether it is finally sustained or not by the courts.

Even the power of moral persuasion seems to run against the President's decision.

Debate On New Math Keeps On Multiplying

WASHINGTON — With school resuming, so will a controversy that shows no signs of subsiding — the debate over the "new math." Critics wish the new math would go away, its defenders wish the critics would. Apparently, both will be disappointed.

Although they deny the term "new math" can be adequately defined, mathematicians manage to agree on just enough of a definition to know what it is they're arguing about. To get a taste of battlefield conditions, consider the following question. Why does 3 plus 2 equal 2 plus 3? Traditionalists impatiently answer, "because both equal 5." "No," reply new math proponents, "they're equal because the commutative law of addition holds." Oh.

If the new math resists definition, it can at least be clarified. Basically, new math began in the early sixties as a series of innovations designed to help students appreciate the law-like patterns and relations in mathematics, and why they work as they do. These innovations include set theory, modular arithmetic, and symbolic notation.

New math proponents argue that it imparts an understanding of mathematical principles, whereas rote learning does not. In their view, the old method of incessant drills and tedious memorizing — the "ours is not to reason why" approach — is inimical to rational inquiry.

But for Dr. Morris Kline, author of "Why Johnny Can't Add," these arguments just don't add up. Kline and his supporters contend that the new math is little better than a numbers racket, an ill-conceived pedagogical venture that seriously jeopardizes the student's ability to acquire practical, computational skills. The preoccupation with abstract theorems, charge the critics, neglects the basics and prevents children from learning either one. "The theory doesn't mean anything unless you already know how to do it," objects critic Dr. James Shackelford.

Many mathematicians favoring the new math admit to some abuses. Dr. Loren Woodby, for example, concedes that some students have never learned to multiply fractions. But if kids are having difficulty multiplying, critics of the new math are not. They're multiplying like rabbits. In fact, the new school year finds many mathematicians concerned that the reaction against new math may go too far. The point is made that teachers often were poorly suited to the task of explaining the new system, having themselves been weaned on the old one.

While it's true that standardized tests in the mid-sixties indicated a diminished computational ability among students, the tests weren't designed to measure the alleged strengths of the new math curriculum. Critics who scornfully point to these test scores ignore the encouraging recent reports from high school science teachers who praise the superior conceptual acuity of their students.

If the passions of new math critics cool as much as has the ardor of its early advocates, our math curricula may yet benefit from the inspired amalgam they so badly need.

Artificial Limits Bad

The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce has added its voice to those advocating an end to the city's policy against the development of the Stevens Creek area to the east of Lincoln. Basically, the chamber has said that the restriction is an artificial one and, as such, will produce artificial and unwanted results.

The policy, it reasoned, is encouraging residential growth in the small community areas around Lincoln such as Waverly, Eagle, Milford, Hickman, etc. The disturbing thing about this has nothing to do with pride, but rather, is a matter of local economics.

People who work in Lincoln and live in these surrounding areas are an economic loss to the city from a tax point of view. These areas around Lincoln constitute a tax burden in the form of many municipal services such as streets and parks.

One of the things that has crippled many cities of the nation is the growth of areas on the fringes of the cities and the ultimate locking in of the cities to a center core area. There is still a lot of open space between Lincoln and the surrounding towns discussed here but this does not do away with at least a part of the impact of fringe growth.

We recognize that some people are going to move to these smaller towns for reasons other than the availability of desirable living sites in Lincoln. Still, the Stevens Creek policy is a limitation upon freedom of choice that tends to encourage people to locate outside Lincoln's city limits.

It does this by limiting the area in which you can live and by forcing higher prices on land within the city limits. This is one of the reasons that real estate in Lincoln is far more expensive than it is in many larger metropolitan areas of the nation.

The chamber has not urged a sudden throwing open of the doors without any restrictions. Rather, it has urged an orderly development and the utilization of whatever utility policies would make development economically feasible for the city.

It has simply urged that we remove our head from the sand and begin planning for what is both natural, inevitable and needed — the residential growth of the area to the east of the present city limits.

Final Blow Delivered

Finally, the environmentalist may win and the American love affair with the auto will be over. This final blow to the car would be delivered in the form of a shortage of anti-freeze this winter.

Apparently there will be such a shortage, although it really is not expected to have a significant impact upon travel by car. The truth is that most cars these days seldom change their anti-freeze.

Thus, unless you have a problem of some kind, your car will be running this winter on the same anti-freeze it used last winter. If we could actually get no anti-freeze for our cars and had none in them, the situation would be critical.

This would leave us only two options — set the car up on blocks for the winter and ride the bus or constantly fill and drain the radiator. The former would be a heavy price to pay for the pleasure of driving.

It would be bad enough filling and draining the radiator at home but think of the challenge this would be at work! Service stations could do a booming business of housing your car by the day, draining it of water when you checked in and filling it up for your return home.

Heated garages would also be in heavy demand — a place where you could park your car safe from a freeze-up regardless of the water in the radiator. At home you would be on your own.

Of course, draining the radiator at night might leave you with a sheet of ice to contend with in the morning. After progressive days of this, the city might begin to resemble a giant ice-skating rink. Maybe then we could skate to work.

The evening check list at home would include draining of the radiator, along with such things as locking the doors, turning off the lights, letting the cat out, putting the dog away, turning down the furnace, etc. We must admit that a lot of us would give up and finally resign ourselves to something other than private transportation.

WILLIAM SAFIRE

Lesson Of El Nino

WASHINGTON — There is a warm and unwelcome current of water that flows down from the equator past the coast of Peru every year around Christmas time that the fishermen call "El Nino de Navidad" — The Christmas Child. The warm current is unwelcome because it is bad for the fish.

Six years out of seven, the warm El Nino current is pushed out to sea and made harmless by the Humboldt current, an icy cold stream from the South Pacific that flows northward up the coast of Peru and makes the huge anchovy catch proliferate happily and leap into the nets with joy.

But on the seventh year, El Nino cannot be denied, for as long as any of the old fishermen can remember, on the seventh year El Nino defeats the Humboldt current, making the waters warm and the fish sluggish. The anchovies huddle together unhappily, do not breed so well, and the fishing is bad.

Last year was one of those seventh years. But the young, modern fishermen saw themselves not as mere men of the sea who pay respect to the cycles of nature, but as industrialists providing the world two million tons annually of protein-rich fishmeal. So they equipped their boats with electronic fish-finders, located the unhappy schools of anchovies and fished them heavily, and laughed at El Nino.

Suddenly there were no more fish off the coast of Peru. In the old days, on the seventh year the anchovies that survived El Nino could hide from the fisherman and spawn for the next year. But thanks to the electronic fish-finders, the schools were decimated. The fishermen are now in a depression and it serves them right because they lost their sense of pride and courage and respect and it's tempting to slip into Ernest Hemingway-style writing about the old men and the sea.

Perhaps by coincidence, two other great sources of protein in the world were hard hit: drought harmed the peanut crops of West Africa and India, and in the United States, 75 million bushels of soybeans rotted on the ground.

What happens when you have a bad year for fishmeal and soybeans and peanuts? As night follows day, you have higher prices for cattle feed and chicken feed and hogwash, and you have housewives in supermarkets infuriated by higher prices and blaming it all on Herb Stein and George Shultz, which is unfair because neither one of them ever insulted El Nino de Navidad.

To find out what might happen next in current events, this essayist ventured to the headquarters of the Central Intelligence Agency in McLean, Va. The protein experts of their Bureau of Economic Research brilliantly foresaw the worldwide consequences of the fishermen's refusal to submit to El Nino (in intelligence memorandum ER-IM 72-149, "Peru's Fish Problem," which has come into my possession.)

The soybean and anchovy man at the CIA insists on anonymity because his friends and neighbors think he is a proper spy and not just a soybean and anchovy expert. He sees some hope in the situation: Although there are not the usual 14 million tons of live fish off Peru right now, there are about four million tons splashing about in the Humboldt current and reproducing with great glee under the protection of a lock-the-barn-door Peruvian government fishing ban.

How the CIA has found out there are four million tons of fish out there, they will not say — the picture of an intrepid agent in a rowboat with a can of worms and a sodden transmitter comes to mind — but their soybean and anchovy man was correct before and the agency has earned a certain credibility in this matter.

So chances are that next year there will be plenty of fishmeal; if the law of averages holds up, there will be a normal peanut crop in Africa, a decent grain harvest in Russia and an improved corn crop in the United States with our soybeans sprouting determinedly on increased acreage. When feed prices come down, food prices will stop going up so fast.

NU Budget Important

When members of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents settle into their chairs this morning at the System Building in Lincoln, they'll have in front of them as important an agenda as they'll face all year. And the reason it's so important is that it contains a line which says, "1974-75 budget request."

There's already been some indication of what the requests might contain, since the board made some general guideline decisions when it met a month and a half ago in Clay Center.

The university administration gave the board two possible plans of action, one which would require an increase in funds of 11% to 12%, and another which would demand 13% to 14%.

Last month, the board said it liked the latter option, but it also asked to see some alternatives for reductions.

A year ago, the board asked to see a budget that took $2 million out of what the administration was recommending. And then it adopted a request which included the $2 million reduction, largely on the basis that the economic and political reality of the day demanded it.

Many will be watching this year to see if such considerations again play a part in the board's thinking.

There are those who would argue, with a good deal of merit, that the board's job is to pay attention to academic needs, not political realities.

Since the Board of Regents is not a taxing body, they would say, its responsibility does not include an assessment of what the university can expect in the way of appropriations.

Thus, they are disappointed when the board tries to outguess the Legislature.

In terms of academic needs, the university already has its guidelines for what should be sought, at least during the next five years.

The five-year plan, about which much has been said and written, says unequivocally that the university must have state appropriation increases of 10% to 12% per year to meet minimal needs.

But that, the plan says, still won't provide the funds for introduction of new programs or significant improvement in quality.

It'll be interesting to see how much of the board's deliberations on the budget includes discussion of the five-year plan and its goals.

If discussion of political realities dominates, it may tell us how much of a commitment the board has to the "toward Excellence" plan.

The plan calls for improving teaching and learning, strengthening graduate education, more attention to keeping students who start but don't finish, and particular emphasis to a number or identified program areas on each campus.

In response to many queries, I must say that I think Adam has had a good first week at school.

Last week, my thoughts about my older son's first day in kindergarten filled this space.

And since then, many have asked how he did.

Well, he doesn't say much about such things. But his protests have diminished all week long, and he can be heard singing a new song or two around the house.

He's apparently not shy in his new environment. Wednesday was his birthday, and he announced that fact when he got to his room.

Thursday morning, he proudly put on his new "birthday belt" and went out the door to meet his friends on the corner. And he didn't look back to wave as he started off down the street.

His mother is already a library helper.

That was the result of the many pages of information which we looked over the first evening, filling out a few and sending them back, volunteering information and help.

On some of the questions, I wondered if I should really fill out what they said they wanted.

Should I tell his teachers that his favorite television shows, aside from Saturday morning cartoons and the Electric Company, tend toward Cannon, Manix and Hawaii Five-O?

Of course, I wanted them to be honest with me about my kids. I should be honest with them.

It struck me, at some point, that the new way of life this week was probably hardest on Stefan, who is 3.

He's lost his playmate during the mornings.

But next week, he too will be off two mornings a week at nursery school.

That ought to settle things in pretty solidly.

This week, we all grew up a bit.

Gift Of Bench

Lincoln, Neb. I wish to extend appreciation to Mrs. Fern Farris for her gift to bus riders at the 48th and Stockwell bus stop. The bench was a permanent gift for the elderly at her own expense, $111.00. This is a woman who is more than thoughtful of others, a consideration so seldom seen these days. Most people are all too busy to do more than think of their own selfish pleasures, or maybe just too poor to do more than care for their own family needs. This can be understood.

All of this reminds me of the row of pines cut down along Holdrege. They were to be cut into lumber, and built into benches for riders or a wind-breaker or a ducky little bridge over some merry little brook, all to sport a memorial plaque to remind us of the pines the people could not save from progress — a widened street.

This began in February, 1972. Though I pass there, there are no flowers, shrubs, no benches, only a few uninteresting cedars at the top of a naked dirt hill. Promises, promises made to shut up our protests. Seems the city has more important things to do.

Maybe Mrs. Farris's gesture will shake up people who have several extra bucks to buy a bench along their streets, and the city to get busy with the pine seeds on Holdrege. Waiting in the hot sun, blizzards and pouring rain for 30 or 40 minutes even by those going to work just ain't what it's cracked up to be.

Thanks to Mrs. Farris for her thoughtful kindness.

Northeast Radial

Fremont, Neb. The Star editorial of August 29 is the best argument against the Northeast Radial to date. I am sure Mr. Dobler did not intend to support our arguments against the radial, but he did.

Mr. Dobler has been unable to date to see anything wrong about the Northeast Radial for Fremont Street. Damage to our property on Fremont Street by the construction of the radial does not even enter his mind. On Randolph and J Streets, he sees the threat to private property. He weeps when he thinks about environmental and social compatibility there. Then he dries his tears and writes an editorial urging the council to put through the Northeast Radial.

At the next meeting of the Fremont Area Citizens Committee, I will offer a prayer that Mr. Dobler will, from this time on, permit consistency to enter into his thinking so he may weigh justice on Fremont Street the same as he does on Randolph and J Streets.

The Open Door

Lincoln, Neb. How many citizens of Lincoln know the true meaning of the vast services The Open Door provides for those in need and without funds? Not enough!

Under the personal direction of Dr. Cherita Richardson, her helpers, not paid employees, give individual attention to those in need of help 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Many times the help is a desperation situation, a call, and The Open Door is always available. The list of services performed is endless, but to cite a few: securing legal advice, taking the handicapped to and from doctors, seeing that people needing a doctor get one, providing clothing and household needs when they are available, which means donations of this type are needed.

The Open Door is in the process of plans for a dental clinic and medical doctors of its own but all this cannot be done and what they are doing will cease without the help of various well known organizations capable of supplying their firm support.

Come October, I shall be 59 and have been alone for 16 years, and arthritic with other physical complications and short on funds. I was in a hopeless situation last April and after many efforts to find the help needed, remembered reading an article on a new program being formed in our city giving various services to those in need. I had saved it and as a last resort, called The Open Door. The call was answered by a soft-spoken person, I explained my need and was assured of assistance. The voice was that of our Dr. Cherita Richardson and since that time, she and her very wonderful group have cheerfully come to my aid, giving me a feeling of security.

There are hundreds who need The Open Door. Let's not let it close on them.

2 More Nebraskans Added To Road Toll

Nebraska's 1973 traffic fatality toll stood at 263 Thursday with the addition of two more names to the mounting list.

A Cook man died when his motorcycle crashed off a Johnson County road late Wednesday night near Tecumseh.

Authorities said Dennis Neemann, 32, had been away from his home several hours when his wife decided to search for him and found his body early Thursday.

Johnson County Sheriff Clifford Lacy said Neemann lost control of his cycle on a gravel road. The cycle skidded about 240 feet and flipped over several times, the sheriff added.

Exhibitors Wet Animals In Heat At Fairgrounds

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

Worried hog producers turned water on their exhibition hogs in the near 100-degree heat Thursday while other exhibitors scrubbed dairy cattle and draft horses as all prepared for opening day at the Nebraska State Fair.

"We have more than 70 draft horses entered this year and will have the 40-horse team of draft horses on the big beer wagon on Wednesday," said Fair Manager Henry Brandt as he described what may be the largest gathering of work horses in many years.

Joe Allan of Cozad said he used his horses to put up hay this summer, partly to break the horses and partly to show the younger generation how it was done. "They can't compete with a tractor, but I think they still have a place on every farm, particularly with gas going up," he said.

Allan has 14 of his 18 Belgian horses at the fair. Most of the big plow pullers weigh over a ton.

Hog Owners Wait

Dairy cattle dominated the 4-H scene and most of the early arrivals in the open class barns were dairy cows and beef cattle. Hog producers were mostly waiting for the cool of the evening before attempting to move their animals because of danger of losing them to heat prostration.

The 4-H show had 224 Holstein cattle, 29 Brown Swiss, 29 Ayrshire, 73 Guernsey, 49 Milking Shorthorn and 17 Jersey cattle entered.

Lyle Hanschu of Ramona, Kan., moved about the dairy barn wearing a strap-on milking stool made in Holland. "It is a handy thing to rest on and fine for milking. My legs aren't what they used to be," he said.

A group of FFA members worked on the gateway to the children's barnyard, which had not stood up too well during the past year. "We will be getting in most of the animals during the night so they will be ready for the youngsters," said one of the young carpenters.

Some 545 pieces of fine art entered by 214 people have already been judged and tagged with bright new show ribbons.

Disqualifications Topic

Many beef exhibitors were discussing events at the Iowa State Fair, where the champion Hereford and reserve champion Shorthorn had been disqualified because a blood test indicated they were not purebred cattle.

The same kind of blood test will be used to be sure that breed champions at the Nebraska State Fair and the Ak-Sar-Ben show are really representatives of the breed they claim to be.

Dr. Jim Gosey, superintendent of the 4-H beef show, explained that the test is similar to blood typing of humans. "Each breed has its own particular blood characteristics. The test will positively identify a breed by its blood. It can prove that an animal is not a purebred but it doesn't necessarily prove he is. As long as he passes the test he qualifies. Exhibitors who are not absolutely sure their animal is a purebred can enter him in the crossbred and other breeds class as an unknown or they can have him blood tested before the show," he said.

The tests are done at Ohio State University under the direction of Dr. H. A. Hines. "There is actually nothing new about the blood testing procedure. The dairy people have been using it for years," said Dr. Dave Williams, NU extension livestock specialist.

Williams said that 4-H youngsters who were doubtful about the ancestry of their calves could still change their entry form to unknown and show the calf in the crossbred and other breed class if they wished. Primary livestock activities on opening day will be open class hog judging in the morning and draft horse judging in the afternoon. 4-H dairy cattle will be judged Friday starting at 8 a.m. with the dairy cattle leaving the fair after the showmanship contest Friday afternoon. The 4-H dairy cattle will be replaced by 4-H beef cattle Friday evening and Saturday morning.

No Fair Fee If 12 Or Under

The Nebraska State Fair entrance fee is waived for children 12 or under, according to Henry F. Brandt, state fair manager. The Sunday Journal-Star erroneously reported it as 14 or under.

Crops In Eastern Nebraska Hurt by Heat, Fuel Shortages

"A combination of very hot weather and the end of the month as fuel allocations run out is hurting crops in some areas of Nebraska," says Paul Sindt, executive director of the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

"We have a map of the state and are using red for gasoline shortages, blue for diesel fuel shortages and green for LP (liquefied petroleum) gas shortages. East of Dawson County, the thing looks like a Christmas tree."

Sindt estimated that 90% of the counties in the eastern half of the state are having some kind of fuel shortage. He expects the problem to ease after Sept. 1 as new allocations are made to fuel dealers.

"There are a number of irrigation wells in many counties that are down to one or two days of fuel remaining," he said. "Some farmers in the Palmer area are entirely out of fuel and have had to shut down."

Albion Dentist Dies in Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Dr. W. P. Higgins, 83, a widely known dentist, died in an Omaha hospital Thursday. He practiced at Albion 55 years.

Merrick County may have lost 10 bushels of corn per acre because of hot weather. Dryland corn in Holt County has been hurt, with yields dropping from 60 to perhaps 40 bushels.

"Irrigated corn needs another 10 days of water in many areas," Sindt said. "Farmers like to keep the stalks green as long as possible because it reduces the likelihood of the corn lodging or falling down."

Farmers and fuel dealers with all sorts of problems are being asked to report their needs to county ASCS offices for compilation by the state office.

"We want to know about gasoline, diesel, LP and fertilizer shortages and impending shortages," said Sindt. "We want to know about plugged elevators, grain piled on the ground and any grain that is spoiling on the ground."

Sindt said he didn't know how much good it would do to report the problems to federal officials in Washington, but he noted that they have specifically asked for the information on a regular reporting schedule.

Means Announces Candidacy

Rapid City, S.D. (UPI) — American Indian Movement leader Russell Means announced his candidacy for president of the Oglala Sioux tribe and fellow AIM leaders announced formation of a "secret service" to insure his election.

Means said a news conference here that he decided to run for the office because of the "oppression and repression by the present tribal government and the puppet Bureau of Indian Affairs, in collusion with the FBI."

Peanuts Go To Zoo

By LINDA OLIG
Star Staff Writer

What do you do with 448 pounds of soggy peanuts?

That was the dilemma facing the management of the Radisson-Cornhusker Hotel just the other day.

But the problem was solved in short order.

If the tasty morsels were not pleasing to man's palate,

Sweaters Go Long For Fall

Stretch a sweater to the knees and you have a coat, which happens to be one of hottest new cover-ups for the fall season.

Sure the sweatercoat is something that has been around before. But this year you'll see more of it than you've seen in eons because it's being replayed in hundreds of new ways.

Knitted coats are an important part of the sweatermania that has taken hold of the fashion world.

Jackets are long, coats are longer and dresses to the floor are longest in this year's sweater-swamped market.

The sweatercoat is not the type of fashion that is right for everyone. It is calculated to give a lean line which requires a figure on the same wavelength. Otherwise the line is thrown off and the coat isn't shown to its best advantage.

It is a style, however, that makes good sense for weather that is chilly but not cold enough for a heavy wool coat. It's perfect for fall days.

perhaps the monkeys and birds at the Lincoln Children's Zoo would appreciate having them.

Would they ever?

Unknown to the hotel's management, the zoo has been without peanuts for a month with no end of the peanut famine in sight.

Nothing's selling for peanuts these days. And peanuts aren't even selling these days. They simply aren't to be found.

With food shortages and skyrocketing prices, people have been switching to peanuts as a protein source and meat substitute, theorized George Smith, the zoo's curator who is charged with feeding the 190 animals housed there.

Like humans, the animals have been forced to rely on substitutes. Monkey biscuits and wild bird seed was fed to the 10 specimens of birds and eight specimens of monkeys during the peanut drought, but that proved unacceptable. Smith said.

When Smith and Sam Wolff, zoo director, arrived at the hotel, accompanied by the peanut-starved macaws, a large breed of the parrot family, Peter Clarke, Radisson-Cornhusker general manager, explained the situation.

Salted in the shell peanuts are served in large crocks in the '30's atmosphere of the Apartment, a cocktail lounge.

The latest shipment arrived in Lincoln in May or June and has been kept in the storeroom where the humidity took its toll.

"We didn't want to throw them away," Clarke said, explaining that he called a staff meeting to solve the "case of the soggy peanuts." At that time, John Novak, the hotel's chief engineer, suggested giving them to the Children's Zoo.

"This supply will last us a year," Smith said, pointing out that he usually purchases 25 pounds of the nuts four times each year.

The macaws couldn't wait to get at the peanuts. Perched atop the seven bags, they renewed their skill for shelling and skinning the tasty tidbits.

The peanuts not only are excellent sources of protein for the birds and monkeys, but, particularly for the primates, they are activity food, explained Wolff. "It keeps them busy and makes them use their minds and motor ability."

Zoo Too Has Food Problems

Unavailability of peanuts from major retail sources is just one of the headaches continually confronting the zoo's management in this age of general food shortages and rising prices.

"In many cases, we can't make substitutes for certain types of diets," he said. For example, shrimp and carrot juice are basic to the diets of the flamingoes since those foods contain chemicals which help to retain their coloration.

The price of shrimp has increased nearly $4 for every five pound package, and carrot juice was absent from the grocers' shelves and hence from the birds' diets for at least a month.

"And in other cases we don't want to change the quality of the food because of the breeding successes we have been encountering," Smith added, pointing to the successful reproduction of marmosets and emus. "So we are forced to pay higher prices for the same quality."

In many instances, the zoo is facing previously unheard-of competition from human consumers.

"For the first time, zoos have been forced to compete with humans for horsemeat," Wolff said. Since most horsemeat is approved for human consumption and is being tried to counteract the shortages and rising prices, the zoo has been faced with a 50% increase.

Homo sapiens also are eating more fish. That fact, compounded with the contamination of the waters, has led to a shortage of smelt. "We buy smelt in large quantity from the Texas coast, but the price on 500 pounds has gone $100 over last year," Smith said.

And soybean meal, a primary additive to many animals' diets, went up $200 last year, and is expected to increase an additional 250% this year, he noted.

Fresh produce, when available is costing the zoo 15% more this season, and another food which has become more inaccessible is scrap liver, a favorite of the otters.

The freeze on the price of beef may have some bearing on the shortage of liver, Smith indicated, saying, "I was told that it wasn't that there was no supply, but that it was being held back in hopes of higher prices."

Granddaughter Has Look Of Old Lady

DEAR ABBY: I have a 22-year-old college-educated granddaughter who looks like a little old lady from the hills of Tennessee. She doesn't wear a drop of makeup! And her hair, which is straight as a poker, she brushes straight down, or pins up on top of her head like a charwoman. She wears funny little wire-framed glasses. I never see her in anything but blue jeans, or a gingham apron, suitable for a barn dance.

When I tell you she could have qualified for Miss Teenage America when she was 17, it's not just Grandma talking.

This change came about during her sophomore year at college. She's an honor student and never got mixed up with drugs. What is the matter with this child? Is she punishing her mother who is a beautiful woman and loves beauty? Or is she punishing her father who is rich and would buy her anything she wants?

BEWILDERED GRANDMA
DEAR BEWILDERED: Nothing is the matter with her. She's making a statement: "Accept me, unadorned. Please take the time and effort to discover the real me!"

Look closely, Grandma, you might find a very beautiful person behind those little wire-framed glasses.

dear
abby

DEAR ABBY: Help! Maybe if our neighbors see this in print they might take the HINT.

Our neighbor's divorced daughter, with her two small undisciplined children (ages 2 and 4) lives right next door to us. The problem: This mother gets these children up at 7 a.m. and sends them outside to play. They play with very noisy toys, also scream and yell at the top of their lungs. This continues all day long. Believe me, it is enough to "wake the dead."

My husband and I have a business that keeps us up late at night, and we would like to sleep until at least 9 a.m.

I know people write to you complaining about barking dogs, but what about barking children? Sign this.

WISH THEY WOULD MOVE
DEAR WISH: A hint won't help. TELL your neighbors that you would appreciate it if they supervised the children at indoor play until at least 9 a.m. because you need your rest. And don't be bashful. They probably send the kids outside so THEY can go back to bed.

Bridge Bidding Quiz

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North East South West
1 ♠ Dble ?

What would you bid now with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠73 ♥KQ964 ♦A95 ♣J86
2. ♠J4 ♥Q972 ♦Q863 ♣K74
3. ♠9 ♥K75 ♦J84 ♣QJ9653
4. ♠Q964 ♥J5 ♦872 ♣K763
5. ♠KJ852 ♥84 ♦K7653 ♣10

1. Redouble. This indicates 10 or more points. The purpose of the redouble is to alert partner to the possibility of either making a game or exacting a penalty from the opponents. Trump support for partner is by no means guaranteed.

2. One notrump. Over a double, this shows a balanced hand usually containing 8 or 9 points. It thus permits partner to carry on as he sees fit in the light of this disclosure. To pass is inadvisable because it might become impossible later on to show the few scattered values safely.

3. Two clubs. Bidding a new suit over a double denies the ability to redouble and hence identifies a hand ranging from zero to 9 points in high cards. The two club bid is not forcing. It tells partner that spade support is either negligible or non-existent, and that clubs are playable.

4. Two spades. This denotes a relatively weak hand with spade support. The actual hand is about average for a raise over a double, but it can have a point or two more or less. The raise suggests four trumps.

5. Four spades. The best way of dealing with hands of this type is to zoom right into game. There is no way of knowing whether partner can make four spades, but you bid it just the same.

Partner doesn't need much of a hand to make ten tricks with this distribution — thus, he might have as little as ♠AQ963 ♥K72 ♦A8 ♣984 and come home with ten or eleven tricks.

But at least as important as that is the probability that the enemy can make ten or eleven tricks with clubs or hearts as trumps — and at the same time find it extremely difficult to contest the bidding further over four spades. The leap to game over the double thus serves as a two-edged weapon.

Baling Wire Scarcity Hurts Hay Prices

A shortage of baling wire is hurting hay prices in the alfalfa-growing areas of central Nebraska.

"We could sell several truckloads of hay to a dairy farmer in Washington State, where they have had a poor hay-producing year, but we can't get wire to bale it with and the farmer who needs the hay can't get it either," said Albert Kjar, a hay dealer in Lexington.

Kjar said a load of wire that did arrive in Lexington was gone a few minutes after it arrived.

"It is a very serious situation economically because we sell a lot of hay from this area," he said. "The only alternative is to pile it and hope you can get wire to bale it later, but this adds $5 to $7 a ton to the cost of producing hay."

Hay is now selling for about $30 a ton, which is regarded as a depressed price because it is difficult to move if it is unbaled. Twine-tied bales are not considered as satisfactory as wire-tied bales for long-distance shipment.

The situation is not likely to improve soon either. A spokesman for Felco, a major supplier of farm products, predicted that it will be well into December before wire can be delivered.

He explained that the shortage was caused by devaluation of the dollar, making the United States a "less attractive market for Japanese wire."

U.S. firms that quit making baling wire because of cheap, imported Japanese wire haven't had time to get geared up to produce again, he continued.

"One of our major suppliers is to break ground for a new plant Thursday, but the wire from that plant is 17 months away at best," said the Felco spokesman.

Apparently, pollution control problems and new safety regulations have prevented reactivation of old plants. At least one large plant in Duluth, Minn., is expected to close, adding to the shortage.

A spokesman for Fox Brothers Hay Co. of Emmett in Holt County, a major distributor of wild hay produced in the Sandhills, said: "We have an adequate supply of wire on hand for a while, but we are concerned about future supplies."

"We bale between 500 and 700 tons of hay a week and will be baling from stacks later this year. A short wire supply will be a real problem if we can't get more."

Wild hay in the sandhills is selling from $28 to $30 a ton, but prices are changing daily, with many farmers holding for a higher price. Most of the demand for hay is in western Nebraska.

The Felco spokesman said the shortage also extends to barbed and woven wire, steel posts, livestock feeders and handling equipment.

Soybean Harvesting Reminders Offered

With the October soybean market heading for $7 to $8 per bushel, soybean producers have added incentive to harvest as many soybeans as possible. In fact, the monetary incentive this year is more than twice what it was a year ago, say University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension ag engineers.

Improper combining has resulted in serious losses of soybeans in the field. Said Del Lane, NU Extension ag engineer, "Improper harvest practices and management cause soybean growers to lose an average of 10% annually. In other words, if your soybeans average 40 bushels per acre, you could be leaving about $30 an acre worth in the field. Most of this loss could be avoided through proper combine operation and adjustment."

Here are some reminders on how to harvest more of the soybeans:

—Start of harvest when moisture in the soybean seeds reaches 13%; mold in the bin could result from higher moisture while lower moisture content could produce increased losses due to shattering, lodging and cracking. Check with your local elevator to arrange for a moisture test, and be sure to take in the size sample they need.

—Cut soybeans as close to the ground as possible. For every inch of cut above the ground, you lose from 1.5 to 1.4 bushels of soybeans per acre.

—A floating flexible cutter bar extension mounted below and about 10 inches forward of the original cutter bar could make a vast improvement. It is free to float and flexible to follow the contour of land.

—A variable speed reel permits feeding the beans to the cutter bar with minimum shatter loss. For example, in heavy growth, slow the speed of the reel as you slow your ground speed.

—In order to feed tall or short beans into the auger, it is necessary to have a hydraulic reel height control to lower or raise the reel while the combine is moving.

—The "sensing fingers" on an automatic height control on the header operate a hydraulic lift for controlling cutting height. Some combines use this device.

Court Upholds Kimball Bank Suit Dismissal

Denver (AP) — The 10th Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday upheld the dismissal of a $12,152 suit brought by the First State Bank of Kimball, Neb., against the operators of the Torrington Livestock Commission in Torrington, Wyo.

Last December, U.S. District Judge Ewing Kerr at Cheyenne, Wyo., held the bank had no valid lien on 190 head of cattle sold by the livestock commission on consignment from the late James Faden, a Banner County, Neb., rancher who died in 1971.

The bank sued the commission operators, Lester and Jean Maxfield, and their insurance company, U.S. Fidelity and Guaranty Co. The bank claimed the money was due it from sale of the cattle on four occasions in 1967-69.

Kerr held the cattle were not part of the collateral to the bank in connection with other loans made to Faden. The appeals court agreed, saying the agreement Faden had with the bank specified the collateral included other cattle, but not the livestock Faden consigned to the Torrington Livestock Commission.

Price Support Rates On Wheat In Nebraska Remain Unchanged

By The Associated Press
Price support rates on wheat in Nebraska's 93 counties will range this year from $1.31 to $1.12 per bushel, same as last year, the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office reported Thursday. The recently enacted farm program will boost this figure to $1.37 on next year's wheat crop.

The higher wheat loan and purchase agreement rates, as usual, apply to east-central counties in the Omaha area, with the lowest rates applying to far western counties.

Rates, and counties to which they apply:

$1.31 — Burt, Washington, Douglas, Sarpy, Cass, Otoe, Cuming, Dodge, Saunders, Lancaster, Seward, Butler, Colfax, Stanton.
$1.30 — Dakota, Thurston, Madison, Platte, Polk, Nemaha.
$1.29 — Dixon, Wayne, Pierce, York, Saline, Gage, Nance, Boone, Johnson, Pawnee, Richardson.
$1.28 — Jefferson, Fillmore, Hamilton, Merrick, Antelope, Knox, Cedar, Wheeler. $1.27 — Thayer, Hall, Howard, Greeley.
$1.26 — Clay, Nuckolls, Boyd.
$1.25 — Holt, Garfield, Valley, Sherman, Buffalo, Adams, Webster.
$1.24 — Kearney.
$1.23 — Franklin, Harlan, Phelps, Dawson, Custer, Loup, Rock.
$1.22 — Keya Paha, Brown, Gosper, Furnas.
$1.21 — Blaine, Logan.
$1.20 — Thomas, McPherson, Frontier, Red Willow.
$1.19 — Cherry, Lincoln.
$1.18 — Hayes, Hitchcock, Hooker.
$1.17 — Grant, Arthur, Keith, Perkins.
$1.16 — Chase, Dundy, Sheridan.
$1.15 — Box Butte, Garden, Deuel.
$1.14 — Dawes.
$1.13 — Sioux, Morrill, Cheyenne.
$1.12 — Scotts Bluff, Banner, Kimball.
Although current market wheat prices are considerably higher than the price support rates, some farmers put their wheat under loan rather than sell the crop for income tax purposes or for interim cash, ASCS sources explained.

Omaha Company Reports Paper Users Cutting Back

Omaha, Neb. (AP) — Local paper distributors say their customers are cutting back on printed material because of a paper shortage.

The result is that consumers' mailboxes may be a bit less cluttered with advertising brochures and business correspondence.

Paper users have not been severely pinched for supplies, but area companies and schools are asking their employees and students not to write a couple of words on a piece of paper and throw it away.

Neal Walker, president of Omaha Paper Co., Inc., said recent strikes at Canadian paper mills, which have made newsprint critically scarce, have not had as great an effect on other types of paper because they are produced principally in American plants.

But the Canadian rail strike has aggravated the shortage of wood pulp from Canada used by the U.S. plants, Walker said.

Nixon Blamed

Appointments Announced By Bishop Flavin

Clergy appointments for Nebraska have been announced by the Most Rev. Glennon P. Flavin, bishop of the Lincoln Catholic diocese. They are:

The Rev. Peter Nauron, to continue as pastor of St. John's Church, Minden, also to be in charge of Holy Family Church, Heartwell; the Rev. Adrian F. Herbek, pastor of St. Francis' Church, Center, and to continue as superintendent of Aquinas High School, David City;

The Rev. Myron J. Pleskac, assistant superintendent of schools in the Lincoln diocese, and chaplain to the Sister-Servants of the Holy Spirit of Perpetual Adoration, with residence in St. Patrick's rectory, Lincoln; the Rev. Robert A. Roh, to continue as head of the religion department in Aquinas High School, David City, and to transfer residence to St. Francis' rectory, Center;

The Rev. Ignatius Lempert, O.S.C., to continue as pastor of St. Ann's Church, Doniphan, also to be in charge of Sacred Heart Church, Kenesaw; and the Rev. Michael Bradley, O.M.I., assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, McCook.

Thone Favors One Committee Per Candidate

Washington (AP) — Rep. Charles Thone, R-Neb., says he favors an election reform which would allow only one fundraising committee for each national level candidate.

"At the present time there can be hundreds of committees raising and disbursing money for an office seeker," he observed in his weekly news letter.

"Another reform that I feel is very important is a requirement that the party national committees conduct the presidential campaigns. If the Republican National Committee had been in charge of President Richard Nixon's re-election, I can guarantee you that the dastardly foolishness of Watergate would never have occurred."

Reasonable limits on campaign contributions from a single source, and efforts to shorten the presidential campaign period also were advocated.

However, any reforms in federal campaign laws must be workable and enforceable, he said.

"It would be better not to pass any new legislation than to vote for a bill with high goals and standards and no possibility of enforcement," he said.

Ross Martin, of the accounting firm, recommended that specific bank accounts be opened to keep contributions and disbursements separate from other contributions.

The whole question of the city's and county's contribution to the chamber's development fund arose following disclosure that some $5,000 of that development fund was used to fight passage of Charter Amendment 2. That's the so-called Northeast Radial amendment on street planning.

Breakdowns Sought
The City Council had asked for an accounting from the chamber of a $25,000 Lincoln Electric System contribution, while the County Board had asked for a breakdown of some $5,000 it contributed to the chamber for promotion purposes.

Chamber officials had responded that no public funds were channeled into the anti-amendment fight.

John Fraker, chamber director, said the business group opposed the measure "because we thought it was a very bad proposal."

A tabulation sheet distributed to officials Thursday showed

Another Police Pay Effort Fails

The Lincoln Police Department's negotiating team made a last ditch effort to obtain a higher 12½% wage hike when they appeared before the City Personnel Board Thursday.

The effort failed.

The board recommended that the City Council approve a pay ordinance which ratifies two that $5,010 was collected from six businesses and that $5,006.74 was spent.

Contributors Listed
Firms contributing dollars included Dobson Brothers, Abel Investment, First National Bank, National Bank of Commerce, Lincoln Equipment and Miller & Paine.

The money was distributed to:
—Rall & Associates, a public relations firm, for $3,309.24.
—Committee to Oppose No. 2, $1,500.
—the law firm of Crosby, Pansing & Guenzel, $197.50.

Councilman Max Denney told chamber officials that the council's concern was "that public money was being used for political purposes."

Councilwoman Sue Bailey, noting that the chamber takes stands on public issues said, "At times you may agree with the city or county and at other times you may disagree."

She asked "Is it possible for the public to realize we can divorce ourselves from the chamber?"

Colin Displeased
County Board Chairman Robert Colin voiced displeasure over the need to create separate bank accounts.

contracts agreed upon by the city and Lincoln Firefighters Association and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. The ordinance also calls for a 7½% across-the-board increase for most other city employees, including the police department.

Not Enough
Ted Kessner, attorney

"I can't understand why everybody is so shook up over this," he stated.

And Councilman Bob Sikyta said, "I hope we can put this to bed and forget about it."

When Colin asked what created the flap over the chamber's funding in the first place, Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said the issue was raised by the Coalition Against the Radial.

Accounting Asked
"I'd like to know where their funds came from," the mayor remarked.

Councilman John Robinson said the issue of the chamber's contribution to the anti-amendment fight was raised because "there's been a laundering of corporate funds in the political arena."

Chamber attorney Robert Guenzel countered, "There was no question of laundering of funds because there's no accountability."

Guenzel explained that under state statutes the chamber is not required to report on such expenditures.

The only reason the matter came to light, he said, was because of voluntary disclosures.

representing the police, said the proposed 7½% increase "does not obtain the necessary level of comparable pay for police."

He presented a list comparing police salaries in cities of comparable size to Lincoln within a 500-mile radius.

The list showed that starting Lincoln patrolmen receive $729 per month, while the Lancaster County sheriff's deputies start out at $750, the State Patrol officers begin at $732 and Omaha patrolmen begin at $735.

Personnel Director Walt Mitchell presented a second list which showed that the average starting wages for law enforcement officers is $713, below the Lincoln police department's starting wage.

'In Middle'
Mitchell said, "Our concern is not to be on the top of the pile, not to be on the bottom, but somewhere in the middle."

However, Police Capt. Dean Leitner contended that present police salaries are not at a level to recruit and retain the best qualified officers.

Kessner pointed out that Lincoln firefighters will be earning more money than policemen as a result of an agreed upon two-year contract. That contract calls for a 5% increase the first year and a 7% increase the second.

But, Kessner contended firemen actually will benefit from a 10% increase this year because an additional 5% wage hike was approved last September.

Mitchell told the board that their consideration of the pay issue is a "mute point because the budget already has been set."

The council set the budget Monday, which calls for a 7½% increase for police.

The pay ordinance also was put on first reading Monday.

$250,000 Resources Hike Sought

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Natural Resources Commission will seek a $250,000 budget increase from the Legislature for fiscal 1975 over its $1.3 million budget for the current fiscal year.

Two controversial programs would receive the bulk of the increased support in the proposed budget approved by the commission Thursday.

Those two programs are the

Opinion Suggests NRDs May Get County Funds

The State Justice Department has opened the way for the state's 24 natural resource districts to receive federal revenue sharing funds from counties.

However, it appears the attorney general's opinion may be too late for many counties to benefit from the ruling this year. Many county boards have already completed their budget process.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Ralph Gillan said in an opinion, which was requested by the Natural Resources Commission in May and was answered Aug. 27, "There seems to be a somewhat indirect statutory authority for contributions by a county to a natural resource district."

The only proviso Gillan at-flood plain management program, which would be expanded from its $49,812 budget to $139,812, and the clearing and snagging program, which would receive $62,500 instead of the current $12,500.

Budget chairman Robert Bell of Omaha told the commission that the clearing and snagging fund, which has been opposed by environmentalists for its adverse impact on wildlife habitat, should receive meaningful financial support from the commission. In the past, clearing and snagging has been supported on a pilot basis with $12,500 annually in matching funds.

Evaluation Asked
Gerald Chaffin of the Game and Parks Commission and Vince Dreeszen, director of the conservation and survey division with the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, suggested that the clearing and snagging efforts should be evaluated by the commission staff before seeking any increased funding.

Dreeszen said he has witnessed programs that "caused just as many problems as they solve" and added that past snagging operations should be studied first.

Bell replied that the program has received limited financial support in the past and said that it is time for the commission "to fish or cut bait" with the snagging and clearing fund.

"There's no point in limping along any longer on a pilot basis," Bell said.

Ron Bishop, manager of the Central Platte Natural Resource District, said snagging and clearing operations in his area are in greater demand than there is money available.

Full Speed
The $90,000 increase proposed for the flood plain management program would allow the commission staff to work at full speed in delineating both rural and urban areas prone to flood damage. Current funding allows for work only in incorporated areas, but, as one commission member noted, considerable construction is occurring on flood plains outside municipal limits, such as along I-80.

The flood plain designation sets safety standards for buildings constructed on flood plains; property-owners with buildings existing in areas proposed as flood plain zones have protested that the designation depreciates the value of their property. Lawsuits have been threatened to contest the 1967 Flood Plain Act.

The commission also voted to support $100,000 increase in general fund money for the watershed and flood control fund.

The commission also went on record supporting a cross appeal by the attorney general's office to the State Supreme Court of a Lancaster District Court decision holding commission membership by four members a conflict of interest.

4th Municipal Judge Ordinance Planned

An ordinance authorizing the appointment of a fourth Municipal Court judge will be placed on first reading before they City Council Tuesday.

The measure, will be introduced by Councilman Max Denney.

City lawmakers already have budgeted $24,600 for the judge's salary, plus additional funds for office help and furniture.

Cities of the primary class, of which Lincoln is one, are authorized to have four judges. The three existing Municipal Court judges have requested the council to appropriate funds for the fourth judge and a fourth courtroom to help ease the increasing caseload handled by the court.

However, no funds for a fourth courtroom were included by the council in the 1973-74 budget. Council members previously have indicated a rescheduling of times schedules in the existing courtrooms could be made to accommodate a fourth judge.

If the council authorized the appointment, it will be up to Gov. J. James Exon to select the judge from a list compiled by a special judicial selection committee.

Lack Of Capital Called Roadblock To Farming

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—Young people today have the desire and fortitude to go into farming, but lack the necessary capital.

That was the testimony given here Thursday by students from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln who were testifying before the legislature's Agriculture Committee.

The students also complained that some of the best agriculture professors were leaving NU to accept higher paying positions elsewhere.

The committee, headed by State Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood, is conducting a study to determine the reasons for the lack of interest in farming by young people.

Dennis Kimbrough of Geneva, president of the Nebraska Young Farmers Association, told the committee that the biggest hurdle was capital.

Stan Ferris of Central City, the secretary of the NYFA, testified that it was a lack of capital and land that was keeping many young people out of agriculture.

But bankers Clarence Vorhees and Jim Haggart of Hastings testified that there is capital and credit available for the young people who want to go into farming. They said the limiting factor was a lack of available land.

On Friday the Committee will study what types of air, land and water usage is best for the state and the proposed state land-use plan.

Police Officer Loans Alaskan Money For Bail

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A 6-foot-3, 217-pound gold panner from Alaska, Patrick W. Jones, 24, was picked up on a hitchhiking charge and his bail set at $8. He had $20 in travelers checks, but no identification to cash them. He also had $6.54 in cash.

A police officer came to Jones' assistance, lending him $2 and sending him on his way to visit an ailing sister in San Diego.

"I've been to Alaska and the people there have a particular type of personality," said the unidentified cop. "He seemed to be a good guy."

To Discontinue
Lecture Tours

Washington (UPI) — U. S. District Judge John J. Sirica has denied permission for convicted Watergate conspirator James J. McCord to continue on a lecture tour. He was expected to put similar restraints on Watergate defendant Jeb. S. Magruder.

Sirica denied McCord's request Wednesday after special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox said the tour would generate "additional pre-trial publicity" for future defendants in the Watergate case.

McCord, free on bond since he was convicted earlier this year for participating in the Watergate break-in, already has made one college speech.

McCord had planned a tour next month to include engagements in Boston; Richmond, Va.; Colorado Springs, Colo.; Tucson, Ariz.; Hays, Kan., and Orono, Maine.

An ex-CIA agent and former security chief for Nixon's re-election campaign, McCord said he wanted to use the lecture fees to help pay legal costs he estimated would reach $100,000.

Three-Day Rally Ends In Market

New York (AP) — The rally which had taken the market sharply up in the last three sessions quieted Thursday, and the market finished slightly down.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up almost 3 1/2 points near the opening, eased steadily and closed down 90 at 882.53. The Dow had gained nearly 29 points since Monday.

Advances led declines 827 to 589 among the 1,754 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume for the day totaled 12.10 million shares Thursday compared with 15.69 million Wednesday.

"We've had a meaningful advance over the last three days," said Martin Goodfriend of Bruns, Nordmann & Co., "It's time it took a rest."

"The damage done to investor confidence over the past year cannot be erased overnight," he said. "You cannot expect the market to rise in a straight line."

Brokers attributed the recent recovery which came after a long slide of several weeks, to the broadly undervalued portion of the market and improved buyer psychology.

Philip Morris was the Big Board volume leader, down 1/4 at 116 1/4 with a 102,300 share trading at 116. Brokers said the stock has been the object of short selling.

Among the volume leaders were international paper, one of the advancing paper group, up 1/4 at 44 1/4, Oklahoma Gas & Electric, off 1/4 at 22 1/4, Ramada Inns, down 1/4 at 9 1/4, and Texaco, unchanged at 29 1/4.

Rotational group leadership continued as a feature of market activity. Paper stocks, which were the strongest group Wednesday, continued strong. Aluminum was up as a group today.

Alcoa up 1/4 at 71 1/4, American Alumin. up 1/4 at 19 1/4, and Alcan up 1/4 at 22 1/4. The glamour stocks, which were off at 10 1/4, Polaroid was off 1/4 at 11 1/4, and Xerox was off 1/4 at 15 1/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, advances narrowly led declines, 296 to 278 among the 1,027 issues traded, and the price change index was up 0.03 at 22.92.

In Over-the-Counter trading, the NASDAQ composite index was up 0.02 at 103.99.

OU Still Possesses Primary Goals: No. 1, Big 8 Title

Norman, Okla. — Big Eight legislation has taken bowl games and television appearances away from Oklahoma's football team, but to hear Sooners coaches and players tell it they haven't taken away what has always been their primary goals.

Big Eight faculty representatives and athletic directors a couple of weeks ago banned the Sooners from bowl games this season and next and barred them from TV appearances in 1974 and 1975.

They didn't however take away their opportunity to win the Big Eight championship or a national championship.

Bigger Goals Than Bowls, TV

"The probation doesn't bother me," says all-American linebacking candidate Rod Shoate, whose only bowl appearance as a Sooner came last winter as a sophomore in the 14-0 win over Penn State in the Sugar Bowl.

"It won't bother the way I play and it won't bother the way my teammates play," he adds, "I think it will make us play harder."

"Bowls don't matter to me and neither does TV. Our goals have always been bigger than that and it doesn't affect our chances of winning the Big Eight or of winning a national championship or of having the best defense in the nation."

"We've just got to suck it up and play," asserts quarterback Steve Davis, one of the players who must come through if the Sooners are to challenge for the Big Eight title. "The schedule hasn't changed. We've still got to play Texas and Southern Cal and then the Big Eight teams."

"Adversity sometimes brings you closer together and we already were a pretty close-knit team.

"If we can beat everyone we play, then we can sit back and watch on TV as they play their bowl games and we can think we're No. 1."

Lost Talent More Bothersome

What is likely to bother Oklahoma more than the probation is the loss of offensive linemen such as Tom Brahoney, Ken Jones, Dean Unruh and Al Chandler, plus a running back such as Greg Pruitt.

"The way our offense looked in our last scrimmage (last Saturday), we couldn't have scored against Baylor (OU's opening foe on Sept. 15 at Waco, Tex.)," new head coach Barry Switzer told Big Eight Skywriters visiting here Thursday.

"We've got a lot of young people in our offensive line and we've got an inexperienced quarterback," he added. Left guard John Roush and right tackle Eddie Foster are the only returning starters in the offensive line and neither quarterback Davis (redshirt) nor Scott Hill (freshman) has played a down of varsity football as yet.

"The last two times we went into a season with that kind of situation at quarterback was with Bobby Warrmack in 1966 and Jack Mildren in 1969," Switzer points out, "and we were 6-4 both of those years."

Night 'Saves' Nastase

FOREST HILLS, NY (AP) — Defending champion Ilie Nastase of Romania stood on the brink of defeat in the second round of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships Thursday when his match was suspended by darkness.

The flamboyant, long-haired favorite was only four points away from being eliminated by unseeded Andrew Pattison, a 24-year-old Rhodesian, when officials called the match.

The score stood 6-7, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 5-3. When play is resumed Friday, Nastase will be serving.

The only break in the seedings Thursday was a five-set victory by John Alexander of Australia over Roger Taylor of Great Britain. The No. 11 seed fell before Alexander 3-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5.

Taylor fought off match point five times before losing.

Defending champion Billie Jean King and other members of the women's Big Four had about as much trouble with heat and humidity as with opponents in their first-round matches.

The four gave up a combined total of only 15 games.

Mrs. King, crushed out of Hilton Head, S.C., playing Peggy Michel of Pacific Palisades, Calif., 6-2, 6-3.

Margaret Court of Australia, seeded second, whipped Pat Pretorius of South Africa 6-1, 6-2.

Third seeded Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., defeated Rani Fox of North Miami Beach, Fla., 6-3, 6-3.

And, Evonne Goolagong of Australia zipped past Barbara Anne Downs of Alamo, Calif., 6-1, 6-0.

All four matches were played in early afternoon on the third day of near-record heat for Metropolitan New York. Thursday's high temperature here was announced as 98 degrees.

Jan Kodes, sixth seeded in men's singles, completed his darkness-delayed first-round match against Stanislav Nedelko of Czech won 6-7, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

Other first-round men's matches completed Thursday included Jim Connors of Belleville, Ill., seeded ninth, over Herb FitzGibbon of New York, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2, and Adriano Panatto of Italy, seeded 14th, over Victor Amaya of Holland, Mich., 7-5, 6-7, 6-3, 6-7, 6-4.

That sent all 16 seeded men's players into the second round. Alex Mayer of Wayne, N.J., and Clark Graebner of New York City were among those eliminated.

Ken Rosewall, Rod Laver and John Newcombe, the big three of Australia, did nearly as well. Each won his second-round singles match with ease.

The 38-year-old Rosewall, No. 5 seed, whipped Bob McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., 6-1, 6-3, 6-3. Laver, seeded fourth, showed no signs of the back trouble that has limited his court activity for several months as he eliminated Patrice Dominguez of France, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2. Newcombe, seeded 10th, beat Jimmy Delany of Potomac, Md., 7-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Huskers Get Reprieve, Practice Without Pads

By RANDY YORK

Nebraska's football team Thursday got a reprieve from heavy-duty workouts on Memorial Stadium's sauna bath-like AstroTurf.

A coaches' decision to ease off into sweat gear only was met with renewed player enthusiasm on the heels of a disappointing Wednesday scrimmage.

"We felt it was time to do it," head coach Tom Osborne said after altering plans to practice without pads. "We've pushed 'em pretty hard the last two weeks."

"We've never had a fall camp this hot," he added. "Usually before first games, we practice some on grass. But since the first game is on AstroTurf, we decided to practice every day on it even though it's 20 to 25 degrees hotter in here."

Osborne noted the temperature on the field the past two weeks has been officially measured between 125 and 140 degrees "so it takes a lot out of you just standing out here, let alone practicing."

Foremost concern in the Cornhusker camp continued to be the status of quarterback Dave Humm, who sustained a strained knee in Tuesday's practice.

"We expect him to come out Friday and do some throwing," offered Osborne. Doctors' diagnosis of the injury, he added, "still isn't clear cut. There's no immediate indication of ligament or cartilage damage. But sometimes, they don't declare themselves this early."

Nebraska trainer Paul Schneider said Humm is getting "regular treatment and different therapeutic modalities. He's doing some walking and we're using some ice."

The splint was taken off Humm's knee Thursday afternoon. He left practice with it wrapped only and Schneider indicated that the all-American candidate "will be out Friday. All we can do is watch him progress until he gets better."

If Humm does function efficiently Friday, Osborne indicated he may see some action in a Saturday scrimmage because "it's getting to the point where he needs to get some work in."

"He needs 25 or 30 live plays where he can read defenses and do some automatics or he could become too rusty to expect him to play well against UCLA," added Osborne.

The first-year Cornhusker head coach pointed out that Humm and backup quarterback Steve Runty will wear red vests for Saturday's scrimmage "because we don't want to run the risk of them getting hit. The rest of the contact will be live."

Although the outlook was bleak for Wednesday's scrimmage, Osborne said a study of films Thursday indicated "that there was an awfully lot of good individual effort."

He cited the performance of the first and second team offensive lines, particularly the blocking of center Rik Bonness and tight end Brent Longwell, who's "looking better than ever," according to Osborne.

Osborne also praised the performance of wingback Ritch Bahe, fullback Ralph Powell and split end Frosty Anderson and added that "defensively, we were solid all the way."

If Nebraska is able to control the ball against UCLA, Osborne said the Cornhuskers may play two offensive teams to help combat expected excessive heat.

However the game materializes, Osborne said Anderson and Bob Revelle will share split end duties. Dave Goeller, Jeff Moran and John O'Leary are ticketed for I-back duty behind Tony Davis. Osborne added that he is "uncertain" about starting fullback between Powell and Maury Damkroger.

One of a Series By RANDY YORK Prep Sports Writer

Vince Aldrich's No. 1 pre-season priority was to uncover another running threat to lessen the pressure on all-state halfback Artie Aksamit.

After 10 days of practice, the veteran Lincoln Pius X football coach believes he has found an answer in 187-pound senior fullback Tom Wade.

"He's been the biggest surprise we've had. He's doing very well," Aldrich says of Wade, a letterman slated for 2-way starting duty at fullback and linebacker.

"I've been very pleased with the varsity and the physical condition they're in," adds Aldrich. "Our lettermen are providing good leadership. If we continue to improve, we can have a real good football team this year."

Aldrich believes the Thunderbolts will field an excellent offensive line, although center is "the biggest problem we have."

"But I think we have more talented people to go with these quarterbacks than was the case in 1966 and 1969."

Frosh Could Play

The situation is so bad in the offensive line that three freshmen could wind up seeing action there with three listed on the second unit at this time.

"That shows the lack of depth we have in the offensive line," Switzer notes, "But these are talented freshmen."

The frosh offensive linemen with a chance to play are left guard Jaime Melendes (6-2, 220, Lawton, Okla.), right guard Jay Holman (6-1, 220, Altus, Okla.) and tackle Chez Evans (6-2, 270, Seminole, Okla.).

"I feel good about the center spot," says Switzer. "Kyle Davis has been blocking well there."

The OU coach feels he has two good wide receivers in sophomore Tinker Owens, who played a key role in last year's win over Nebraska and was named the most valuable player in the Sugar Bowl, and Billy Brooks, a junior college transfer.

"But tight end is a question mark since we've moved John Carroll there from split end," Switzer explains. "He's a good receiver, but he's not the blocker that Al Chandler was."

Defense Excellent — Maybe

The Sooner defense, which was among the best in the nation last year, again figured to be excellent — until the three Selmon brothers were sidelined this fall.

LeRoy (6-2, 252) and Dewey (6-1, 249) figured to flank nose guard Lucious (5-11, 236) in the middle of the defensive line.

Brock Tallies Winning Run

... NY'S SEAVER LOSES

St. Louis (UPI) — Lou Brock doubled, went to third on a sacrifice and scored on a single by Jose Cruz in the bottom of the 10th inning Thursday night as the St. Louis Cardinals beat Tom Seaver and the New York Mets 1-0.

Brock's double bounced off the wall between left-center field. He advanced to third on Ted Sizemore's sacrifice bunt back to the mound and scored when Cruz's high bouncer got by the New York infield which was playing in.

Al Hrabosky pitched the 10th inning and gained his second win against one loss after relieving St. Louis starter Reggie Cleveland, who pitched nine scoreless innings before he was

UCLA's Drill Pleases Coach

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mark Harmon threw touchdown bombs of 70 and 66 yards Thursday in what was probably UCLA's last scrimmage before the opening game at Nebraska Sept. 8.

Harmon completed four of five passes for a total of 156 yards against the Bruin junior varsity. He connected to tight end Gene Bleymaier and split end Norm Andersen on the long ones.

"This was our best scrimmage so far," said coach Pepper Rodgers whose Bruins upset Nebraska last season.

The varsity scored five touchdowns in all. Halfbacks Kermit Johnson and Russel Charles scooted over on 12 and 6 yard runs, respectively, and No. 2 quarterback John Sciarra scored on a four-yard keeper. Sciarra completed five of seven passes for 63 yards.

"The guys are getting over their dead legs," said Rodgers. "We hit good and looked much sharper all around."

Wade Proves Biggest Pius X Surprise

We're using four players there to create some competition."

Pius X may have the city's best guard tandem in returning starters Rick Zitek and Chuck Rezak, both of whom "have been consistently solid in practice," according to Aldrich.

Charles Hadwick, Eric Siepker and Mike Lang "are having a good battle at tackle," says Aldrich, who has moved letterman Mike Creal to wingback where his presence "is creating a good situation with Jim Finnigan and Scott Schroer."

Aksamit, all-city and Class B all-state last fall, "is looking much better this year," according to Aldrich.

The Pius X coach has been equally impressed with the improvement in quarterback Jim Hamersky and split end John Magsamen. Both are returning starters.

The emergence of tight end Mike Duggan as a receiver may give Pius X its best passing attack in recent years. The Thunderbolts' probably starting lineups include:

Offense — Leo Jablonski, tight

But LeRoy is out for at least three weeks with pericarditis (new tests are to be taken then) and tests are still under way on Dewey and Lucious.

"I felt our defense would be good," says Switzer, "when we had everyone healthy, but it wasn't going to be like it was last year. If we get the Selmons back, we'll be close to last year, however."

But he points out there's another facet to having a good defense. "The past couple a years, our offense helped our defense by controlling the football and I'm not sure we'll do that this year."

"If your offense can hold onto the ball and let the other team run only 60 plays, it's much easier for your defense to keep them from scoring than if you let them run 100 plays."

Agrees On Probation Impact

Switzer agrees completely with his players on the impact of the probation.

"Bowl games and TV are fine incentives," he admits, "But there's only one real reward you work for and that's winning."

"When that guy from Southern Cal comes through the line, I don't think Lucious Selmon or Rod Shoate are going to be thinking about a bowl game or about TV."

"They're going to be thinking about hitting him as hard as they can."

"When we got put on probation, they said we couldn't go to a bowl and they said we couldn't appear on TV in 1974 and 1975, but they didn't tell us we couldn't beat the teams we play."

"And our goal is to beat those teams and to win the Big Eight championship."

Phillies Slip By Expos

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Greg Luzinski smacked a two-run single with two out in the bottom of the ninth, lifting the Philadelphia Phillies to an 8-7 victory over the Montreal Expos Thursday night.

Pinch hitter Mike Anderson opened the ninth off reliever Mike Marshall with a single and was replaced by Bill Grabarkewitz who moved to second on Cesar Tovar's one-out single. Denny Doyle grounded to Larry Lintz and when the Expos shortstop bobbled the ball, the bases were filled.

Marshall retired Willie Montanez on a pop fly, but Luzinski then lined his game-winner into right field.

The Philadelphia rally spoiled a fine evening for Montreal's Hal Breenen, who had a pair of two-run homers and two singles.

Breenen's second homer, his 13th of the baseball season, had put the Expos ahead 7-6 in the seventh inning after the Phillies had rallied from a 5-1 deficit.

Tribe's Perry Blanks Tigers With Six-Hitter

DETROIT (AP) — Gaylor Perry scattered six hits and Chris Chambliss hit a first-inning, two-run homer Thursday night, pacing the Cleveland Indians to a 3-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Joe Coleman, 18-14, started for Detroit and lost his sixth consecutive game while Perry recorded his 15th triumph against 17 losses.

Chambliss' homer, his sixth, was a towering blast off the upper deck facing in rightfield.

After a leadoff single by Jim

Northrup in the Tiger first, Perry didn't walk a batter and gave up only a single to Al Kaline in the fourth and one by Northrup in the sixth until the Tigers staged a seventh-inning rally.

But after Kaline opened the inning with a scratch single and Dick McAuliffe singled, Perry got three straight outs to quell the uprising.

Buddy Bell closed out the scoring with his 12th homer of the baseball season in the eighth.

Brewers Tip Red Sox, 4-1

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jim Slaton pitched a five-hitter and Boston's third baseman Carl Yastrzemski committed three errors, two of which led to four unearned runs, giving the Milwaukee Brewers a 4-1 victory over the Red Sox Thursday night.

Slaton and Boston starter John Curtis, 12-11, were locked in a pitching duel until Milwaukee scored an unearned run in the fourth and put the game away in the seventh with three more unearned runs.

Bob Coluccio reached base in the fourth when Yastrzemski fumbled his grounder, moved up on a fielder's choice and raced home on George Scott's single to left.

Sandwiched between outs in the seventh, Yastrzemski committed his second error, permitting Pedro Garcia to reach first. After a walk to John Briggs, Coluccio lined his 12th homer of the baseball campaign for a 4-0 lead.

Yastrzemski slammed his 13th homer in the ninth for the lone Red Sox run.

Slaton walked six and struck out six in recording his 10th victory in 21 decisions.

Twins Hit Rangers, 5-2

Arlington, Tex. (UPI) — Jim Holt knocked in the go-ahead with an infield single in a four-run 11th inning Thursday night as the Minnesota Twins downed Texas, 5-2, despite a 15-strikeout performance by the Rangers' Jim Bibby.

Bibby, who went the distance to absorb the loss, walked Rod Carew and Mike Adams to start the 11th and Carew made it safely into third when Bibby was slow in fielding Rich Reese's sacrifice bunt. Holt then bounced a single over Bibby's head, scoring Carew. Adams hit a sacrifice fly to rightfield, and Reese tallied when Steve Braun grounded to first. Holt scored the final run of the inning when Steve Brye doubled to centerfield.

Texas bounced back with a run in the bottom of the 11th on a double by Jim Fregosi and singles by Larry Bittner and Vic Harris.

Bert Blyleven went 10 innings, allowing 12 hits, to pick up his 16th win against 14 defeats.

Manager Durham Dead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Yancey (Yank) Durham, the fight manager who took a chubby kid named Joe Frazier and made him a world heavyweight champion, died Thursday at a hospital here.

Durham, 52, also managed light heavyweight king Bob Foster.

Death came at 1:50 a.m., EDT. At his bedside were his family and Frazier, who had often described the fast-talking, flamboyant Durham as "being like a father to me."

Durham was hospitalized Tuesday morning in critical condition after suffering a stroke.

"Joe learned of the stroke when he drove his motorcycle into the yard of his home at Beaufort, S.C., Tuesday," his secretary said Thursday. "He turned right around and drove that motorcycle to Charleston to catch the first plane to Philadelphia. He arrived here Tuesday afternoon, and he's been at the hospital the whole time. He's awfully upset."

It was back in 1961 that Durham first set eyes on Frazier, then a kid who wandered into a Police Athletic League gym here to work off fat.

Realizing the kid could hit with power, Durham put the youngster on a weight-reducing program and taught him the art of boxing.

Frazier went on to win the 1964 Olympic heavyweight title, turned pro under Durham's guidance and in 1970 won the world heavyweight crown by defeating Jimmy Ellis.

In one of boxing's all-time spectacles, Frazier successfully defeated his title against the unbeaten Muhammad Ali in 1971.

Clemente Widow Files Lawsuit

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — The widow of baseball star Robert Clemente filed a $15 million suit in federal court Thursday, charging two aviation firms and the U.S. government with negligence in connection with the death of her husband.

The Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder died last Dec. 31 in an air crash off the coast of Puerto Rico shortly after taking off in a chartered cargo plane on a relief mission to earthquake-shattered Nicaragua.

Four others died in the crash, and the widow of another victim filed a corresponding suit for $3 million.

Defendants in the suit were the McDonnell-Douglas Corp., manufacturers of the ill-fated DC-7; the Curtiss-Wright Corp., which produced the plane's engines, along with the U.S. government.

Both firms were charged with negligence and breach of warranty. U.S. aviation inspectors were accused of failing to inspect the aircraft properly.

The suit charges that the plane was allowed to take off despite its being overloaded with cargo. It also claims the cargo was not properly secured and the crew was inadequate and unqualified.

Royals Defeat Evansville, 4-1

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Paul Pelz broke a ninth inning jinx as the Omaha Royals defeated Evansville Thursday night 4-1 in American Association baseball.

In his last two outings, Pelz held 3-1 and 6-2 leads against Evansville going into the ninth inning and lost both games.

The Triplets' loss broke a six-game winning streak for pitcher Ken Reynolds.

Hose Arcia knocked in two of the Royals' runs, a lead-off homer in the third and a single in the fourth that scored Dennis Paepke.

Whitey Adams doubled in the fifth for Evansville and advanced to third on a wild pitch by Pelz. He scored Evansville's only run on a sacrifice fly.

Reds' Tolan Rejoins Club

CINCINNATI (AP) — Controversial outfielder Bobby Tolan rejoined the Cincinnati Reds Thursday night minutes before the team was due to fly to San Diego.

Tolan, who was threatened with further disciplinary action if he did not report, disappeared earlier this week after a verbal outburst with a club official.

He failed to show up for two games after being reinstated to the active list Tuesday night.

A team spokesman later said that Tolan called the Reds' offices here Thursday afternoon and refused to say where he was calling from.

"After he was informed of our earlier statement today he said he could not be back in Cincinnati by that time. He was then given permission to join our team in San Diego providing he reports tonight and he agreed to do that," the spokesman said.

Tolan was fined $350 last week after an argument with a Reds' official. He was placed on the 15-day disabled list last Saturday and later reinstated by commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The Reds are 3½ games behind first-place Los Angeles, while the Padres, on the bottom rung, are 3½ games out. The teams meet Friday.

Haskins Inks Pact

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP) — Veteran guard Ken Haskins has signed a multi-year contract with the National Basketball Association Phoenix Suns, general manager Jerry Colangelo said Thursday. Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Boycott Threatened

Belgrade (AP) — The World Swimming Federation — FINA — threatened Thursday to boycott the 1976 Olympics in Montreal if the organizing committee does not provide better facilities for aquatic events.

Washington Signs

Los Angeles (UPI) — Kermit Washington of American University, the leading rebounder in college basketball last season, signed a multi-year contract Thursday with the Los Angeles Lakers.

Chadron - More than 125 motorcycle riders from Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, and South Dakota will pit their driving skill, endurance, and cycles against the clock and the rugged terrain of Nebraska's Pine Ridge in the sixth annual Pine Ridge Enduro, this Sunday near here.

The enduro, sponsored by the Pine Ridge Cycle Association of Chadron, will be a 154-mile route sheet enduro - one in which the drivers have a mileage sheet of directions as well as following red arrows and flags through the enduro trail.

Last year the enduro was only 60 miles long, but was almost totally in the "rough" - riding through trees on hiking trails, through water and up sandstone inclines. This year's enduro does not include quite as much rough stuff, said Bob Bauerkeper, who helped set up the enduro, so it's considerably longer.

Four trophy places will be awarded in each of four cycle classes - 125 and under, 126-175, 176-250 and the open class. There will be a five foot tall overall trophy awarded. All bikes must be street legal, and have spark arrestors, and all drivers must have a valid driver's license. All minors must have a release from their parents.

The enduro's key time is 8:01 a.m., Sept. 2 at the starting point which is two miles east of Chadron on Highway 20 and will be marked. The enduro should last until late in the afternoon, with the trophies being awarded after all the riders are in.

Motorcycle racing will get the 1973 Nebraska State Fair off to a roaring start with races getting underway at 2 p.m. Friday at the Fairgrounds track.

Race director Mike McAdams predicts that this years show will be bigger and better than the inaugural event a year ago.

"We are expecting over 100 people to enter this year's competition," McAdams says. "Last year they only had about 30 entries."

"We have entries from racers all over the United States so the competition should be top notch and great entertainment."

McAdams explained there will be six divisions including minibikes, 100cc, 125cc, 250cc, 360cc and an open class for bikes with engines larger than the 360cc type.

"We will have 6-lap heats and 8-lap finals for each class," he said. "We will qualify the fastest 10 bikes from the heats for the finals."

McAdams said the purse should be "around a thousand dollars." Total purse money will be decided on the entry fee.

"Last year the entry fee was $25," he said. "We will hold it (entry fee) to under ten dollars and should still have a good purse with the increase in participants."

McAdams said another change from last year will be the awarding of merchandise and trophies along with the money. Last year the winners received cash and a bottle of champagne.

While entries are coming in from all over the country,

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE - Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
